MARCOUX BLACKJACKED BY POLICE SAYS WIFE

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The wife of Joseph Marcoux today accused the Vancouver police department of beating her husband with a lead-filled blackjack while he was held in jail on a charge of attempted murder.

Mrs. Bernice Marcoux made the charge after visiting her husband Tuesday night.

Marcoux had bruises on his face and a bandaged left hand when he appeared in police court Monday for formal reading of the charge of attempted murder of William Semenick in Stanley Park.

'Wallflower' Princess Flies Happily Home

London Says She's 'Magnificent' Envoy; Britons OK Margaret's Low Necklines

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (BUP)—Three Lancasters of the Royal Canadian Air Force took off from Gander today to escort Princess Margaret's airliner from Nassau to mid-Atlantic as she bade farewell to the isles of the Indies.

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret comes home from her West Indian tour Thursday. This is what London is saying:

1. She carried off her duties as Royal ambassador magnificently. The British, like the way she fought against the formality which sometimes confines the Royal Family and the fact she stopped her car to receive flowers or chat with bystanders when possible.

2. The low-neckline gowns she wore were all right. The princess trotted out some daring—for royalty—necklines, but a London newspaper which asked its readers what they thought about them, reported that 75 per cent were in favor of them.

The Sunday pictorial headlines: "HRH Wallflower." It said "on the highest authority" that she had to sit out a dance in Jamaica because she might have had to dance with colored men, if she danced with whites. Repercussions in the dominions were feared, the newspaper said.

Lambie to Quit If Charges Fail

CAMPBELL RIVER—Commissioner John Lambie said today he will resign from the village commission if his charges against Commissioner Sidney Waterfield are not substantiated by investigation.

He has accused Waterfield of "irregularities" in awarding a gravel job. Deputy Minister of Municipalities J. Everett Brown has been called upon to investigate. (See earlier story, page 6).

Court Martial For Victorian In Ship Spree

HALIFAX (CP)—The navy announced today that a petty officer will face court martial Thursday on charges following the illicit drinking spree aboard the carrier Magnificent Jan. 21.

P.O. Maynard V. Johnson of Victoria, the second to go on trial, will face three charges of furnishing a beverage to other men and causing illness, consuming an intoxicant himself and failing to report to a superior the drinking of other men.

AB John MacDonald of Beaverton, Ont., was sentenced Monday to two years less a day and dismissal on three charges from the incident.

The navy said earlier that others involved have been punished by their commanding officer.

(This is University Week in British Columbia. It will end on Saturday with an "open house" at the big, sprawling campus on Point Grey outside Vancouver. Because of the importance in our provincial life of the university, with which Victoria College is allied, the Times sent reporter AB Kent to Vancouver to do a series telling what it means to us. Kent is himself a UBC grad. His first article today tells of the astounding growth of the university.)

VANCOUVER—For a university which failed even before it got legally started, the University of British Columbia has done amazingly well.

Today, with an enrolment of 5,800 students from every corner of the earth and virtually bursting its seams as it tries to cope with the greatest educational responsibility in the province on $5,000,000 a year, UBC is the second largest English-speaking university in Canada.

As such, it rates some attention from the people who support it, and this week upwards of 50,000 citizens will converge on Point Grey for "University Week," culminating Saturday in UBC's triennial "Open House," where they may see everything from atomic research to baby bathing.

STARTED IN 1896
It all started with a provincial act of 1896 which set up a body politic and corporate named "The University of British Columbia," but after election of the first senators, the required initial meeting failed to make a quorum. In fact, only a handful assembled on the date set by the chancellor, Dr. I. W. Powell, of Victoria.

Some of the work normally done in a university was begun four years later by several high schools, among which was Vancouver High, an affiliate in 1899 with Montreal's McGill University. This was followed in 1902 by the affiliation of Victoria High School with McGill, and both became colleges offering first, and later second, year work in arts courses.

With a few hundred students now attending, and scope of subjects offered expanding, an act of 1906, titled the "Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning of British Columbia," was passed, establishing at Vancouver the McGill University College of British Columbia. Still expanding, by the time it was taken over by the University of British Columbia, it offered three years in arts and science and two years in applied science.

In 1915, as autumn leaves fell, the University of B.C. opened as such in buildings now on the way to the scrap heap, but until recently part of Vancouver General Hospital in the Fairview district. McGill University College of Vancouver and Victoria College, which had been part of it since 1907, ceased to exist.

FAIRVIEW SHACKS
For the next 10 years those "Fairview Shacks" constituted a university—probably as humble a start as any institute of higher learning, but engendering a rare spirit of camaraderie among the 400 students who passed through from year to year and played a unique role in development of the university.

Colonel Harry T. Logan, part-time lecturer in classics and editor of UBC Alumni Chronicle, remembers 1915 well.

That was the year he began lecturing, and but for an interval of 13 years, he has been with UBC ever since. He remembers (Continued on Page 24)

KING SIHANOUK
... abdicates in Cambodia

Pro-West King Quits Throne

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (UP)—King Norodom Sihanouk, 33, abdicated today in a dramatic protest against the leftist political groups which oppose his pro-Western policies and his plans for early Democratic general elections.

The young saxophone-playing monarch announced his abdication in his 3,700,000 subjects in a radio broadcast just 48 hours after he conferred here with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on raising and training a 55,000-man Cambodian army.

Norodom resigned in favor of his father, Prince Suramint, 60, who has never been king.

His sensational action was similar to a gesture he made two years ago when he went into exile to win support against the French.

Meanwhile the coach of the U.S. team today branded the tournament a "farce," and said he would recommend America not compete in it next year.

"The whole thing is absurd," said Al Yourkewicz. "We are (Continued on Page 24)

Toronto Police Confident Missing Girl Still Alive

TORONTO (CP)—A senior police officer said today he thinks Judy Carter, 8, missing since Friday, still may be alive.

Chief of detectives Archie McCallie said in an interview: "I think some demented person may have her in his home and she is unable to get away."

"I have a feeling she is going to turn up alive."

A search has turned up no trace of a body.

Meanwhile, police said a 32-year-old theatre usher, held on a charge of assaulting a 10-year-old girl the day after Judy disappeared, will be questioned about Judy.

Police and lifesavers, working with floodlights, searched a section of Lake Ontario Tuesday night.

The search, which covered a stretch of water about three-quarters of a mile along Toronto's west end shoreline, was begun after a motorist telephoned police that he had seen what he thought was a body floating near the shore.

He said he noticed an object jammed between pieces of ice as he drove along the highway. Launches on the water and searchers on foot along the shoreline failed to find any trace of a body but the search was continued.

During the night police also dismissed a $15,000 ransom demand for the safe return of the girl as the "work of a cruel and vicious prankster."

COLOGNE, Germany (BUP)—Canada's Pentiction V's swept to their fifth straight victory in the world amateur hockey championships today by wallowing Switzerland, 11-1.

Bill and Dick Warwick each scored two goals while play-coach Grant contributed one to keep the V's in the running for the title with the defending champion Russians. The Soviets also made it five in a row by trimming the United States, 3-0.

Jim Fairburn shared scoring honors with the Warwicks by firing home three goals, the last two within a space of less than two minutes in the second period.

A crowd of about 3,000, including the Shah of Iran and his wife, watched the match. The two teams made a courtesy bow to the imperial visitors before starting their game.

NO PENALTIES
It was an extremely clean game without a single penalty being called on either side.

Once again, as they have done against their European opponents, the V's demonstrated overwhelming supremacy from the start and then eased to victory. Today Pentiction skated off to a 4-1 lead in the first period, with each Warwick brother scoring one goal. The V's added three in the second period, and then trilled the rest of the way.

George McAvoy, Jack McIntyre and Doug Kilburn each added a goal in the third period, before Dick Warwick wound up the point-making with his second tally of the game.

The scoring spurge increased Canada's total to 48 goals in five games, much better than the Russians' 27 for the same number of contests.

Besides their 11 tallies, the V's took 40 other shots at the harassed Swiss goalie, while Ivan McLelland was required to make only 17 saves.

Arctic Air Mass Moving Southward

Winter tightened its grip on Victoria today with freezing temperatures, snow flurries, and the promise of even worse weather within 48 hours.

Weatherman William Mackie said an Arctic weather system threatening this area from Queen Charlotte Sound in the last few days finally will "move in" Thursday.

"The edge of this cold air mass lies between Courtenay and Qualicum Beach," he said.

He said there will be clearing conditions tonight and increasing cold, and clouds with snow periods and few, if any, snow flurries Thursday. Another storm giving signs of gathering strength in the Gulf of Alaska likely will produce snow again by Friday, he said.

Snow fell steadily over the area today, with up to two inches collecting in some spots. Temperature at Gonzales Observatory was 31 degrees.

LITTLE TROUBLE
Despite treacherous road conditions, traffic proceeded without serious trouble. (See two injured, page 15.)

"Roads are slippery, but drivers seem to be in good shape," said Sergeant Brooke Douglas of the city police traffic division.

B.C. Electric buses had trouble early this morning at some uphill stops, but did not stray too far from schedules, and TCA flights left Patricia Bay on time.

Provincial public works crews are working around the clock on two 12-hour shifts, and are prepared to stay at work while the present crisis exists.

All roads are open. The Malahat is covered with 19 inches of snow, but the highway is passable with chains.

Victoria had the doubtful honor of being the only spot in the Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland that had snow today.

Comox and Campbell River were sunny and cold, and Nanaimo, Vancouver and Bellingham cloudy.

IN PARLIAMENT

$100 Million Deficit Indicated in Budget Coming Down in April
(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

Everyone on Parliament Hill has been saying Finance Minister Harris was bequeathed a budget deficit last year. Now it's official.

Trade Minister Howe, No. 2 man in the cabinet, established it when he said Tuesday night that a 1954-55 deficit—first in eight years—is "indicated."

Speculation is that the deficit will be around $100,000,000. The official prediction April 6 was for a nominal surplus of $4,000,000 on proposed spending of $4,460,000,000.

Reduced tax revenues were caused by Mr. Howe in telling the Commons of the "indicated" deficit in a 50-word reference to it during a 6,000-word speech in an unemployment debate.

For several weeks there has been speculation that Mr. Harris in his first term as finance minister inherited a deficit. Mr. Howe's speech was the first ministerial confirmation that he has.

Expected All-Time High Revenue

The 50-year-old finance minister—who took office last summer—is expected to deliver his first budget in early April. He will disclose formally then the 1954-55 accounts and the 1955-56 forecast of spending that will give any tax and tariff changes.

His predecessor, who left him the current tax and tariff setup, was Hon. Douglas Abbott, now a justice of the Supreme Court of Canada. As finance minister, Mr. Abbott had nine straight budget surpluses before bowing out.

Last year, Mr. Abbott cut taxes lightly in some directions while budgeting for all-time-high revenues of $4,460,000,000 and peacetime record spending of $4,460,000,000. That suggested an almost-invisible $4,000,000 surplus, based on the economy holding up.

Tuesday night, Mr. Howe explained the situation this way: "Tax collections have been lower, and for the first time since 1946 a net budgetary deficit is indicated."

"Even though incomes of most Canadians rose, the personal income tax take has been reduced, a drop of two per cent during 1954 as compared with the year previous."

"Sales and excise tax collections were also down five per cent, though total domestic sales... remained firm."

Heated Debate on Unemployment

Growing unemployment which reached a post-war high in January has touched off an opposition motion calling for the defeat of the government.

A Progressive Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government, presented Tuesday as a major debate began on unemployment, gained support from CCF and Social Credit groups.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, P.C. Hamilton West, proposing the motion, said the situation is grave. She accused the government of "lack of constructive planning."

CCF leader Coldwell said federal policies on employment have been "incompetent."

C. E. Johnston (S.C.-Bow River) said the government helped bring about unemployment through too much interference with the earning power of Canadians.

DEFENDS GOVERNMENT
Labor Minister Gregg and Trade Minister Howe defended the government's record.

Mr. Gregg agreed the situation "does cause concern" but added: "The picture is not at all black, far from it."

The number of jobless was higher than last year. But he denied that the employment situation is deteriorating. The last published figures showed the number of persons working was on the increase. The rise in unemployment was due mostly to

Hawaii Volcano Burning Out

PAHOA, Hawaii (AP) — Hawaii Island's spectacular volcano in a sugar cane field began to die down Tuesday night, but red-hot lava ignited a roaring cane fire.

The fire burned a two-mile stretch of sugar cane in its sweep down the Puna slope of eastern Hawaii Island toward the sea. However, no homes or villages were in the path of the fire.

Warehouse Sales Being Readied by Chicago Stores

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—This city is in for a new series of home furnishings "warehouse sales" to be staged by a number of leading department and furniture stores.

According to unconfirmed reports Marshall Field & Co. plans to hold such an event in its warehouse on Arthington Street starting around March 8; and Mandel Brothers will stage another "warehouse sale" opening around March 7.

Humber Bros. Furniture in Victoria, B.C., has been selling direct from warehouse to your house for 10 years. Humber's have found their customers like the low prices that go with low overhead, no frills, no expensive windows. By putting the value in the furniture and not in store fixtures, they have developed a successful formula for giving the customer fine furniture at prices much lower than the normal retail store.

Stan Martin Thrills Audience At Scholarship Recital Here

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

In a well-attended recital at Metropolitan United Church, Tuesday night, Stanley Martin re-affirmed, not only that he is the possessor of an extraordinarily beautiful baritone voice, but that he has the necessary keenness and seriousness of approach to make full use of whatever opportunity is open to him.

Entire proceeds of the recital, which was sponsored by a group of music-loving women of this city, will be devoted to the Stanley Martin scholarship fund to assist the young singer to pursue his studies in Toronto.

INSPIRED TEACHER

While it is not possible to predict with certainty to what extent he will benefit from the stimulus and challenge of a new and broader environment, there is every reason to believe he will achieve considerable success in the career for which nature and a devoted teacher, Mme. Lugin Fahey, have so finely prepared him.

SENSE OF POETRY

There is not throughout his range, a single note unendowed with a rich and rare beauty. Production has become his more even and uniform. And last night, particularly in the group of Schumann songs (sung in German), he succeeded in establishing a mood and there was a real sense of poetry conveyed.

The two fine oratorio numbers were well suited to his voice, the broad, noble phrases of "Lord God of Abraham" revealing a good sostenuto line; the "Messiah" numbers, a considerable degree of flexibility.

In the operatic group, however, the true goal of such a voice was most apparent. Powerful, dramatic, capable of many colorations and intonations, he moved his audience with the tragedy of "Herodiade," had them smiling with Handel's "Love is Forever" and entirely enchanted with "Oh tu Palermo" by Verdi.

SEVERAL ENCORES

Among songs in English that were particularly satisfying, were "O Men From the Fields" (Hughes), "In the Silence of the Night" (Rachmaninoff), and in his final request group, Winifred Lugin Fahey's "Old Linden Tree" and "Old Man River." Several encores were added to the program.

Assisting Mr. Martin were Peter Hodgson, who played two organ interludes, revealing a high technical competence and musicianly treatment, and Grace Timm, who accompanied the singer.

Of the latter, it must be said that she is a virtuoso in the difficult art of accompanying, rising brilliantly to the most technically involved assignments, yet so sensitive to the singer that a close-knit partnership results. The stability she lends to any performance is invaluable.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States post office department has stopped delivery of the Soviet publications Pravda and Izvestia to most American subscribers.

Bonner, Restaurant Owners Ponder Cocktail Problem

Restaurant operators in B.C. can't decide among themselves who should receive a liquor license to serve cocktails with meals, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Tuesday.

In discussing questions raised by Liberal MLA Bruce Brown, Mr. Bonner told the Legislature the Liquor Control Board "is faced with a serious difficulty" in the matter.

At present, the board is only issuing dining lounge licenses to restaurants attached to large hotels. Other eating places get dining room licenses, qualifying them to serve wine and beer with meals.

Mr. Bonner indicated the dining lounge form of license was intended only for "better class" restaurants.

"The problem facing the board is how to make a distinction between those which should receive a dining lounge license, and the others," said Mr. Bonner.

Mr. Brown told the House the people of B.C. voted for liquor by the glass with meals, "and they are not getting it now."

Many Motels Gouge Tourists Says MLA

Mrs. Lydia Arsens (S.C.-Victoria) told the Legislature Tuesday many motels set their rates by the size of a traveler's car, and the amount of his luggage.

Speaking during debate on estimates of the trade and industry department, Mrs. Arsens said some motels "charge abnormal rates."

"They look at the size of the car, and the luggage, and charge accordingly," she said. Mrs. Arsens also charged "unsanitary conditions" are allowed to exist in the cabins.

The lone woman member of the House earlier said rain-making operations in the province hit the tourist industry last summer "and it will get worse next year if it isn't stopped."

She said rain-makers "must be nipped in the bud."

"If they are allowed to continue, they will ruin the tourist industry in B.C."

In the House

Half of Population
Reaches Police Court
By TONY DICKASON

If you haven't yet been inside a pretty police court, surrounded by the alarmingly intellectual faces of well-built men in blue, you are part of B.C.'s half population which hasn't even started to live!

Fifty per cent of coastal lads and lassies have this little treat sometime in their lives, Victoria Liberal, bow-tied George Greg, told the Legislature Tuesday.

And with evident relish. He's a lawyer, you see!

Speaking on need to smarten up stipendiary magistrates (nobody agreed how to accomplish this) he stated a basic legislative fact: that purpose of cross-examination is to determine if the witness is telling the truth.

"We could use some of that in the House here," said Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, shooting a meaningful glance at the government.

It Just Doesn't Look Right

Then there was the possibility of a little additional moola might not always be resisted by the stipendiary stand-ins. They get paid only when they convict.

Mr. Brown hastened to say there was no evidence of anything haywire in this regard, but the procedure just didn't look right to him. Sort of like leaving the jam jar open, with the baby.

His suggestion was to split B.C. into districts, and have travelling magistrates, like the old-time drummers, make regular calls. One could save his anti-social behavior until just before the date of arrival!

On B.C.'s native population, usually called Indians, Mr. Brown wants them to be able to

It was Bruce Brown, Liberal voice for Prince Rupert, who teed-off on stipendiary magistrates, the lads who put you in the pokey if you live in the sticks.

These magistrates are appointed by the attorney-general, but needn't have any knowledge of the law. They are expected to have commonsense, instead. But, said resonant Mr. Brown, himself of a legal turn of mind, being a lawyer, appointees could be almost anybody — cod coddlers, bait boys on barracuda barges, or "Social Crediters, for all I know."

get tight, and as often, and in all the places where big white brothers now carouse. Consumption has always been a health problem of Indians, one way and another. But if given the same drinking rights as whites, they certainly won't behave any worse, he indicated.

He sees a lot of Indians in the course of his law duties, and should be in a position to know how they behave. As the situation exists now, Indians aren't given a fair shake, he said.

The constabulary will pounce on an Indian smelling of the cup that bears, and toss him into the bastille. And perhaps all the time Big Wolf had wolfed only a couple of beers, and was as far from being addled as an aspirin.

Many Amendments Stymie Statutes

As a busy man, he's a bit fed up by time involved searching through the Statutes of B.C. for various subjects, because of the confounded number of amendments. In the Public Schools Act alone there are 800 amendments, which is all a mite confusing.

The government has been revising the statutes each 12 years, but Mr. Brown suggested this be done next year instead of 1960 before people get snowed under with paper.

(Ladies: Mrs. Lydia Arsens appeared to find the sitting wearing.) Lillooet Liberal Gordon Gibson suggested to the government that a fund be set up, "say $50,000," in case anyone in the House got sued. (Chuckle.)

He has been coming fairly close to this himself, here and yonder. Mr. Gibson wants the government to see trees his way, and not bark up the wrong ones.

CCF'er Robert Strachan, a Scot, has been called everything in the House from "that breeze from the Hebrides," to the full name, "the honorable member from Cowichan-Newcastle."

He's in favor of liquor by the glass in cafes of the average type, not just the ritzy joints.

Mr. Strachan is a thoroughly out-spoken individual, a carpenter by trade, who appears to get a huge kick out of Legislative proceedings. In fact, he puts many of them there. He's never averse to a laugh, but is perhaps the most sardonic and quick of Opposition members in his comebacks. A bad man to have as a heckler from the government point of view.

SC Bid to Tory Stirs Hot Talk

Saskatchewan PC 'Disaster'
Feared if Socreds Get Kohaly

By WILF CHISLETT

REGINA (CP)—The future of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative party rested today on the shoulders of a husky young lawyer defending a man accused of rustling, a charge which has all but disappeared from the west.

When the case is completed, 33-year-old Bob Kohaly will decide whether to accept an invitation to desert the Conservative party and take over Social Credit leadership in Saskatchewan.

If he accepts, it could mean a major defeat for Progressive Conservatives and a Social Credit victory. It would give the Socreds an automatic voice in the legislature. Mr. Kohaly is Progressive Conservative member for the southeastern constituency of Souris-Estevan. Saskatchewan Social Crediters are without a leader or an MLA.

SPURS ELECTION TALK

The new development brought election talk to the fore again. The next election by precedent should not be called until 1956. Some political officials believe one may be sprung this fall.

Social Credit leaders here and in Edmonton denied that the invitation had been extended to Kohaly. Progressive Conservative leader Alvin Hamilton, in reiterating the offer had come from Social Credit elements outside the province and was made over the heads of Saskatchewan officers, said Saskatchewan Social Credit officers were having their throats cut "ear to ear" by outside elements.

He said "opportunists" were moving in to take advantage of a "political vacuum" caused by the CCF "wearing thin" and the Liberal party being "torn with doubt."

Hamilton said Pro-Cons should "move now" because it "would be a disaster of considerable magnitude if we lose him (Kohaly)."

Saskatchewan Socreds retorted that Hamilton's warning proved the leadership bid was a phony deal, cooked up... to drive the faltering Conservatives out of their foxholes.

$250,000 READY? Sources in Regina said the invitation came from Socred organizers in British Columbia and Alberta who were ready to kick in upwards of $250,000 to step up the already extensive Social Credit organization in Saskatchewan. This was denied by provincial executives and by Orvis Kennedy of Edmonton, national Social Credit organizer.

These informed sources also said prominent leaders of the CCF and Liberal parties had been asked to join Social Credit ranks.

In the background was a major bid by Social Credit elements to attain power in Saskatchewan, stronghold of the CCF. Social Credit now is in office in British Columbia and Alberta.

SC TRAINS 500

The Saskatchewan Social Credit party within a few months has set up an extensive school system which to date has turned out more than 500 graduates and has established a big organizational network.

The Socred-Pro Con dispute follows a revolt in Liberal party ranks just before a convention last November to choose a new leader.

Young Liberals, dissatisfied with what they termed "the old guard," elected A. H. McDonald, 35-year-old member for Moosemin, as their leader. Political opponents described the election as a "double-cross."

U.S. Has Lead In H-Bombs So Far-Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Western world all along has enjoyed a great lead over Russia in development of hydrogen bombs and atomic weapons.

He said he thinks it would be pointless to speculate on how long the lead may prevail. He just doesn't know.

Eisenhower's press conference remarks were in response to a request for comment on Prime Minister Churchill's statement Tuesday that the United States has "many times" the H-bomb strength of the Soviet Union.

Churchill added that Russia would be in a position, however, to launch a full-scale nuclear attack against the United States in two to four years.

A reporter asked whether Eisenhower felt Russia might be able to pull even with the U.S. in three or four years.

The president said any conclusions he might make in that field would be only speculation.

Will UN Pledge on Formosa Shake Chiang Out of Quemoy?

TAIPEI, Formosa (Reuters)—Nationalist officials said Chiang Kai-shek will demand a clear definition of the U.S. position on Matsu and the other Nationalist-held offshore island of Quemoy when he meets U.S. State Secretary Dulles here Thursday.

Dulles, with Admiral Felix B.

Stump, American commander-in-chief of the Pacific, will be in Formosa for only six hours. Unconfirmed reports here today said Dulles would sound Chiang on the possibility of the Nationalists abandoning Quemoy and Matsu in return for Anglo-American or even United Nations assurances to defend Formosa.

The English-language newspaper, China News, which usually reflects the government's opinion, says such a proposal would not be "seriously considered" by Chiang.

12-Ton Cargo Planes Start Twice-Weekly Atlantic Run

MONTREAL (BUP)—A giant C-54 cargo aircraft was to arrive here at 8:30 p.m. to inaugurate the first regularly scheduled all cargo air service across the Atlantic.

"Airwork is the first and only carrier to provide this type-of Airwork plans two flights a week, using DC-6A Liftmasters and C-54 Skymasters capable of carrying more than 12 tons of cargo. The service will be between New York, Montreal, Gander, Nfld.; Shannon, Prestwick, Manchester and London, Eng.; Frankfurt, Germany; Zurich, Basel and Milan.

Canada and Formosa

CANADA'S POSITION IN THE crisis of the Formosa Strait has been clearly defined by Mr. Pearson. In a statement obviously directed at Washington, he says that the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu unquestionably belong to China.

Mr. Pearson does not actually say, but his statement implies beyond doubt that Canada does not feel bound to fight for these islands, if the United States decides to defend them against communist attack.

That is the position of the British Government and most or all of the Commonwealth. Mr. Eden has said the same thing. Sir Winston Churchill has gone further and told the British Parliament that, in the event of a war for the islands, Britain would not be required to intervene.

These public statements from London and Ottawa must have been reinforced by private advice to Washington. The United States has been told, in fact, that it can count on no military support from the Commonwealth if it decides to fight on a line which the Commonwealth cannot accept, which it considers unsound both in morals and strategy.

Thus, step by unfortunate step, the United States has negotiated itself into a kind of Asiatic trap. It knows as well as the Commonwealth that there can be no justification in history or morals for clinging to islands lying a few miles off the coast of a great power. But for reasons more of politics than strategy it will not be driven by force from this line.

Those politics relate not only to Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa but to the United States' friends and clients throughout Asia. How the United States really regards such matters is explained in an extraordinarily candid dispatch to The New York Times, from the chief of its Washington bureau, Mr. James Reston, reprinted on this page today. Anyone who wishes to understand American motives should read that dispatch.

It shows, as Mr. Reston says, how the United States, by earlier and unwise commitments, by unleashing and then leashing Chiang, has trapped itself for the moment and disagreed with its most essential Allies of the Commonwealth.

Although the Commonwealth regards the inshore islands as untenable, most of the Commonwealth nations will stand by the United States in the defense of Formosa until the long-term future of that tragic area is settled. This is what the British call the "two-China policy," as first proposed by Sir Anthony Eden's Warwick speech a few weeks ago—the recognition of communist China and of Formosa as two separate, sovereign states.

That is a clear policy, not a very satisfactory one to be sure, but understandable, honest and militarily defensible, and it would assure the unity of the Grand Alliance. Can the United States accept it?

The answer will depend not only on the United States but on communist China and also, to some extent, on Chiang. Red China no doubt can get the inshore islands without war if it will be patient, will accept a cease-fire—written or tacit—and will abandon its attempt to get Formosa. Those are big ifs. Chiang for his part can make such a settlement difficult or impossible by overstraining at the leash, by operating as if he could ever hope to land again on the Chinese mainland.

Those are the elements in a chemical combination which could still set Asia on fire.

While the Commonwealth can warn the United States, while it remains as the only real avenue of negotiation with China, while it can dissociate itself from the inshore islands, we need not delude ourselves in Canada about the consequences of any war in Asia. If the United States is involved in such a war, wisely or unwisely, we shall not escape some, at least, of its effects.

To say that it is none of our business would be absurd and dangerous. When the United States is the leader of the Alliance, when its strategic air force is the only effective defense of Canada against wholesale aggression, when all our interests—political, historical, economic and moral—are so closely bound up with those of our good neighbors, we are bound up closely also with its military policies. If a war on the Chinese coast became anything more than a local and minor incident real neutrality would soon become impossible and unthinkable for Canada and Britain.

But things may not turn out so badly now that the United States, and China as well, know the views of the Commonwealth. There is still good reason to hope that China—aware of the United States' desperate desire for a peaceful settlement—will not prevent it by an act of insanity which would profit nobody.

Trouble in London

WHEN THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT recently raised its bank rate from 3½ to 4½ per cent it was saying, in effect, that it was alarmed by the nation's immediate economic prospects. A rise so sudden and so large is a storm signal and was intended as such.

A higher bank rate means that borrowing and spending within Britain will be discouraged. It also means that foreign money will earn a higher rate of return in Britain than formerly and thus will be encouraged to invest there. A rise in the bank rate is the classic remedy of a nation which is spending too much, saving too little and living beyond its means.

How far Britain has lived beyond its means of late, and the position of its gold and dollar reserves, doubtless will be explained by Mr. Butler, the chancellor of the exchequer, when he introduces his budget shortly. His figures will be awaited with interest and concern in America. Already the raising of the bank rate—an admission of trouble—has had some depressing effect on the stock markets of the United States and Canada.

The real question raised by all these developments is not whether Britain has achieved a prodigious postwar recovery, for clearly it has; but whether that recovery is as solidly based as it appears.

The British people have enormous musically, almost unbelievably, increased their production and their exports by their hard work, their skill and self-restraint. At the same time, however, they have also heavily increased their consumption of goods and raised their standard of living. They have benefited not only from their own good management but from a fall in the price of many imported materials, such as cereals, without suffering much from any serious fall in the price of their exports.

As a result of this easier situation, they have demanded and secured a great increase in goods for themselves and this appetite expresses itself in inflationary pressure. The pressure so far is marginal but it is enough to alarm the government and compel it to raise the bank rate, a direct and drastic remedy against inflation.

Whatever the facts and prospects may be in detail—and we shall soon learn them from Mr. Butler—it is satisfactory to see him moving into this problem quickly, before it becomes serious, as it did in the exchange crisis three years ago. Then the bank rate was raised to 4 per cent. When it is raised to 4½ per cent in a period which most Britons regard as happy and sound, the government obviously is not under the illusion that its economic problems are all solved by any means.

Fallacies of Secrecy

WILLIAM H. STRINGER, CHIEF of The Christian Science Monitor's Washington Bureau, tells an illuminating story of U.S. officialdom's obsession with secrecy.

Recently, he writes, a reporter requested permission from the Pentagon to visit several experimental bases in the West. When days dragged by with no reply, the reporter went off to the bases, was easily admitted to the nonclassified sections, and did a responsible reporting job. After the assignment was all over, the Pentagon finally replied with the word that permission to make the visits would have to be refused.

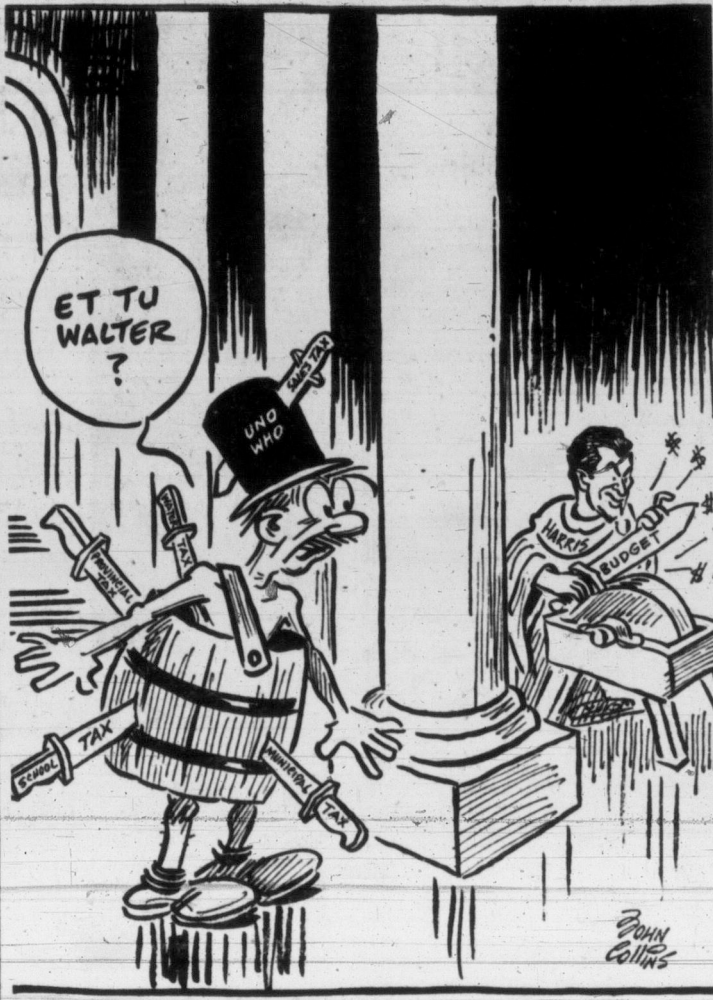

The incident points up, or may point up, several developments in official thinking and attitudes. One is an unwillingness to trust the public with full information—a fear that the ordinary man or woman will panic when told the facts of life in 1955.

Another may be sheer laziness—a belief that it is easier to say "no" than "yes" and escape explanations to higher-ups.

A third may be an admission of ignorance on the part of those supporting secrecy—the concept that if the public is kept uninformed, it cannot very well criticize lack of judgment or knowledge on the part of officials.

Whatever the cause, the secrecy obsession is having extremely unfortunate results. It keeps a country in the dark on matters known frequently to hostile powers and to a nation's own allies. It creates an atmosphere of insecurity by withholding information which should be public knowledge and shows a distrust of the public which breeds public distrust of officialdom.

BY DAVID BROCK

OVER yonder in Vancouver a "Noted Educator" was telling a group of parents: "If you are not satisfied with today's children you can sit back and feel it is your own fault. They only do the things they see society around them doing."

There are several remarks I'd like to make about this. First of all, I'm sick of the modern fashion of mass guilt. I see society around me enjoying the feeling of mass guilt, but by gum I am not going to do the things I see society doing, child though I may be. I did NOT invent the atomic bomb. I did NOT provide a low standard of living in China. I did NOT provoke the average murderer into committing murder, and all the other things my neighbors accuse me of. And I did NOT corrupt my neighbors' children.

"Ah," say the guilty who want me to feel guilty too, "but you can at least speak up about things you think are wrong." I do. All the time. I hardly ever stop. So much so, I am constantly being mistaken for a crusader and a crank. I speak up in this space three times a week, and elsewhere too. Never quiet.

WHEN my own children imitate something that I consider evil or foolish, they are not imitating me or their school teachers. They are not even imitating the parents along the street. They are imitating the kids along the street, usually. Sometimes they are imitating characters invented by the overlords of the entertainment industry. These characters are not an imitation of society. . . . On the contrary, much of the child's world is an imitation of these characters. (I refer to children of all ages.)

And any time I don't like what society is doing, I fail to see how its deeds are my fault. . . . the deeds I disagree with. The ones I applaud may sometimes (though not always) be my fault.

BUT if I kick like a mule against certain myths and customs, then it is not very convincing to say I invented and encouraged these myths and customs. To take only a tiny example. . . . tiny, so I won't get too cross and strenuous with the Noted Educator. I believe manners matter a good deal more than society believes they do, at this epoch. For several reasons. If you like, I will list some of the reasons one day. . . . they are not without interest. . . . like so many other antiques.

THE Noted Educator might find my children a little rude here and there. I do myself, and I would think even less of her if she didn't. But if she thinks they learnt these manners at home, she errs. And if she thinks I lazily let things rip, she errs again. I shall now get off this subject before I get rude.

"They must have learnt it at home." It is just too easy for a Noted Educator to say that. What does she want me to do, move my home to a desert island? I wish I could. Children brought up in a large but isolated family not only have more character but a dozen other rare qualities as well. Including the capacity to entertain themselves. . . . that lost art. Unhappily, I can't move my home at the moment.

"THEY must have learnt it at home." Let me tell you a little story about that. When my brothers Tommy and Pip were 6 and 4 they visited an American aunt in New York. As they walked down Fifth Avenue my aunt heard this snatch of dialogue. "Look, Tommy, there's an American flag." "Yeah, let's thip it on it." My aunt was very naturally wild with anger. She was correct to be angry, and to take steps against these vulgar little xenophobes. She was, however, dead wrong to yell "They must have learnt it at home." There is no other way. They don't go to school yet, so they learnt it at home. It so happens that we didn't spit on anything at home. Nor were we encouraged to indulge in the great Canadian and European sport of hating everything American, even the things we copied fastest. No, my brothers thought that one up themselves, on the strength of false impressions they got from other children.

ONLY the other day I heard a child coming out with the most appalling racial vulgarity. Some nice little German children had moved into the neighborhood, and I heard this boy refer to them as something-or-other little Nazis. He did not learn this at home. . . . neither the words nor the tune. And obviously he didn't learn it at school, or from a society that is now very tolerant.

HE didn't learn it from any fashion. He got it from the instinct that makes children leer at unusual clothes and accents. . . . that makes dogs bite people who don't smell orthodox. . . . that makes black crows peck an albino crow to death. But how easy it would be to say he must have learnt it at home. And to make his father feel guilty. And even, in a queer way, to make his father conceited, feeling the boy was entirely his own creation!

IF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TOLD THE TRUTH

An American Takes a Candid Look at His Country's Policy

By JAMES RESTON
In The New York Times

IF this were an ideal world in which government officials told the truth in response to questions about the Far East crisis, the transcript would be about as follows:

Q—Why have we got ourselves involved in the defense of Quemoy and Matsu?

A—Primarily for psychological reasons. It's necessary to maintain the morale of the Nationalist army in Formosa, important to demonstrate to the Japanese that we really don't intend to go on being pushed around by the Communists out there.

Q—How do the Japanese get into this?

A—Japan is the main Communist objective in that part of the world, with all its skilled labor and industrial power. It's our main ally there, too. The Japanese have been watching this struggle in Asia. They have heard all our bold talk about Korea and Indo-China and they know what happened. They have watched us hemming and hawing about whether we would or would not defend the Nationalist islands close to China, and finally they have seen us evacuate the Tachens in the face of Communist threats.

Q—And they're beginning to wonder about us?

A—They won't wonder too much as long as they're getting more out of us than they get out of the Communists, but their natural love for us is not unbounded. The Communists are making a play for their trade. They are offering to end the state of war with Japan and there's already considerable anti-American and some pro-Communist sympathy in Japan. Both will increase if they think the Communists are going to win in Asia. Japan was on the losing side last time. She doesn't want to make that mistake again.

QUEMOY AND MATSU

Q—Do the Communists have to take Quemoy and Matsu before they can launch a successful attack on Formosa and the Pescadores?

A—Yes.

Q—Then the defense of Quemoy and Matsu are essential to block a successful amphibious attack on Formosa and the Pescadores?

A—Not at all. Even if they took Quemoy and Matsu, they'd be over 90 miles of blue water from Formosa. The joint chiefs are unanimous that we could destroy any Communist sea and air invasion of Formosa and the Pescadores, even if it were launched from Quemoy and Matsu.

Q—Then why do our officials keep talking about the military importance of the offshore islands to the defense of Formosa?

A—Because they cannot say publicly what the real reasons are.

Q—Why not?

A—I have mentioned Japan. We can't say publicly that we have raised too many false hopes in Asia; that the Japanese and others are wondering whether we really are a "paper tiger"; and that we're worried about the internal situation in Formosa.

Q—What's the matter in Formosa?

A—Nothing, for the time being, but suppose we said we weren't going to defend Quemoy and Matsu under any circumstances. That would end the hope that we would help Chiang Kai-shek recover his position on the China mainland. The only way the Chinese Nationalists could then hope to return to China would be by making a deal with Peiping. And even if we left them to fight alone for Quemoy and Matsu it would probably come to the same thing. The Communists would almost certainly attack these offshore islands if we stood aside, and while they would have a hard time, the defense of the islands might cost Chiang as much as a third of his army. Under those circumstances, too, there would be a real possibility of an armed revolt inside Formosa.

Q—Under those circumstances, why don't we say right out that we will defend Quemoy and Matsu?

A—Because the president's first responsibility is to defend the interests not of the Chinese Nationalists, but of the American people. He can't foresee the future. What if the Chinese attacked Quemoy and Matsu and simultaneously launched a major attack against our thinly held lines in Korea? He would have to send everything he had in the area to the defense of Korea, which threatens the security of Japan. Japan is the main thing out there, not Matsu or Quemoy, or even Formosa.

DANGEROUS GAMBLE

Q—So you think we're doing the right thing in planning to defend Quemoy and Matsu without committing ourselves specifically?

A—It's a gamble, a very dangerous gamble, but we're trapped. We have encouraged Asia to think we were going to do things we were not prepared to do. The first thing the president did when he took office was to "unleash" Chiang Kai-shek. This increased our obligation to him and encouraged him and the world to believe that the United States was not only going to "contain" the Communists but roll them back. So, after several reverses, we have taken a moral commitment to defend the doormat on China's front stoop.

Q—Are you suggesting that maybe we talk too much?

A—No comment.

As Our Readers See It

EXALTED COMPANY

May I be allowed a small space in your paper to ask why so much criticism over Premier Bennett's having given Mr. Gunderson a place in the government without portfolio?

The greatest of all prime ministers, Sir Winston Churchill, gave Mr. Lindeman (now has a peerage) the same post.

And Mr. Bonar Law (the Canadian) when Prime Minister of Britain had Lord Beaverbrook as his advisor behind the scenes.

We should be thankful Mr. Bennett is wise enough to wish for Mr. Gunderson to advise him on certain points he has no knowledge of. Perhaps the banks are lucky—who knows!

SCHOOL TRAFFIC PATROLS

It would be interesting if one of your legal readers would state just what is the legal status of a school traffic patrol.

Consider a very usual case of a patrol standing on a "stop when occupied" crossing and signalling the motorist to proceed.

A. If the patrol have the standing of police authority, then the motorist may and must proceed.

B. If the patrol have no such authority, he is merely a pedestrian and the motorist must wait until he ceases to occupy the crossing.

I understand that the patrols are given authority by their local chiefs of police. But do the laws of Canada allow anyone under the age of 16—or 15, 14, 13 or 12—to be entrusted with police authority? If not, then a local chief of police cannot grant such authority to a juvenile.

The school patrols are doing good and useful work, and if the existing laws do not allow them to have a proper legal standing to carry on such work, then some slight amendment would seem to be required.

Apart from the above general question: I mention that during last Summer holidays, when more than three blocks from any school, I was signaled to by a school patrol with flag, who was keeping a road clear for a friend to coast down a hill on a soap box. Surely that was unauthorized.

EX-SERVICEMEN

May I crave your indulgence to publish this letter. I have received an anonymous letter from a person who would evidently repented the sending, or wishes to remain a supporter of Mr. Aubrey, in his remarks about the ex-servicemen, which I raised serious objections to, and this is the only way that I can reply.

May I quote: "I read with disgust your defense of the commissionaires, in my estimation the word that Mr. Aubrey used is a very mild one. Perhaps he knows more than you. There are two men, retired officers, who are drawing pensions of $200 per month. I know of many returned men walking about who can't get a job and no pension."

In reply I wish to state that I was primarily defending the ex-servicemen who had been an asset to our country, and these so-called "scabs" are in the commissionaires. I can prove to you that I have first rate information that a good many men are at present earning over $350 per month and their wives earning $200 per month, which these unemployed ex-servicemen could well do with.

Regarding the ex-servicemen who, ac-ording to you, are entitled to pension, but are without their just dues for disability, just send me their names, and I can assure you that they will get attention.

In conclusion I have very little respect for people who wish to hide their identity, and as I have nothing to fear or favor I am revealing my name and address for any further response.

BEWARE, 'PEACE AIMS'

Last week some valuable reading material was sent to me from Eastern Canada. Whilst reading the contents my attention was drawn to a statement made in 1930 by Comrade Dimitri Mannilsky, one of Russia's top men, who presided over the U.N. Security Council in 1949. This is Mr. Mannilsky's statement:

"War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack." (This was in 1930 mind you.) "Our time will come in twenty or thirty years. To win we shall need the element of surprise. The bourgeoisie will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular movement on record. There will be electrifying overtures and unheard of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist."

Canadians, beware! This so-called "peace movement" could mean an end to free enterprise and democracy.

ALL CANADIANS

I think it is about time that we, as British Columbians and Canadians, realized that we are living in Canada and, like every other Canadian, we are called upon to pay our share of taxes, provincial and federal.

Of late, it seems to be the favorite pastime for Premier Bennett and his Secret Government to make all sorts of financial demands upon our Federal Government. Has it not occurred to these high and mighty "boys" across James Bay that no matter where the money comes from the lowly taxpayer ultimately is called on to "pay the shot"?

Hardly a day passes without hearing Mr. Bennett and his Secretaries incessantly bleating that Ottawa should pay something to the province towards the building of bridges, highways, railways and more grants for this and that, etc., etc. One would think that men in public office would show sympathetic and luminous intelligence in carrying on our public affairs. No doubt part of this unfortunate situation is due the public apathy to our governmental affairs. It is not good for this province nor is it good for Canada.

With the ever-monotonously continuous demands being made on the federal treasury by provincial politicians is it any wonder the taxpayer finds no relief whatsoever? It is about time Mr. Bennett got on with his job of running the province instead of trying to make political capital for his Secret Government out of his "Blame the Ottawa Government" policy.

REALISTIC.

Bits and Pieces

IT was good to read that Teddy Lyons, the BCER's famed observation-car showman, died peacefully in his sleep in Vancouver this week, aged 68.

Teddy was renowned for his expansive grin, his cheery wave, and his music-hall patter as he walked up and down the centre aisle of the perambulating old street-car.

But—like so many others—Teddy concealed beneath this bluff exterior a gentle and somewhat timid spirit. We found this out 20 years ago when we invited Lyons to appear in a CBC show called "Personality Parade."

Lyons couldn't read lines. Confronted by a microphone, he was reduced to a quaking mass of jelly. His hands shook as he held his script.

"Frankly," he said, "this business terrifies me."

Isn't this so often the case?

The other night, at the excellent Victoria College play, I was much taken with the performance of a youngster named Russell Gurney. He acted with a nerve, power and authority astonishing in so young a man.

But after the play his father, veteran newspaperman Bob Gurney, told me:

"Mrs. Gurney and I are amazed, too. This is the first time Russell's been in a play. He's a very quiet boy. We had no idea he could do it."

Something of the same may be said for Patricia Gray, the talented girl who played the title role in "The Young Elizabeth."

Friends say that she took a public-speaking course for a year in order to build her confidence in front of an audience.

Canon George Biddle, one of our favorite parsons, got onto the subject of golf the other day: said that, while he used to play quite regularly in Calgary, he hadn't had a game since moving to Victoria.

The reason? Quoth George: "Parsons are busier in Victoria than in any city in Canada." The explanation of this is obvious. The town is growing fast—hence plenty of baptisms. And our high incidence of senior citizens means a disproportionate number of funerals.

Dick Beddoes, the clever sports columnist of the Sun, quotes Grant Warwick of the Penticon V's: "One Czech player—I can't name him—told me the Czechs had to lay down to Russia. Or else." (They lost, 4-0.) Comments Beddoes: "Not for nothing is Czechoslovakia in the Union of Silently Swallowed Republics."

Gerard Filion, whose comments on our city raised quite a brouhaha among the local patriots, writes from Montreal:

"My experience is that the 'most touchy' people in Canada are the good citizens of Quebec and Victoria."

"The words 'hearses' and 'pallbearers' used as 'figure de style' seem to have raised the bad mood of your charming people. Everything can be said of Montreal, the best and the worst, and everything is true; and I have the feeling that the Montrealers are not much concerned. . . . But when writing about Quebec City you have got to ponder every word and you are never sure of not making a few hundred of enemies."

"Next time I get to Victoria I will refrain from my comment, because, in spite of the 'hearses' and 'pallbearers', I have the deep conviction that Victoria is with Quebec City the most beautiful cities in Canada with the most charming population."

WHAT IF
GOD WEARIES OF MANKIND?

"What ought we to do? Which way can we turn to save our lives and the future of the world?"

"It does not matter so much to old people. They are going soon, anyway."

"But I find it poignant to look at youth in all its activity and ardor, and, most of all, to watch little children playing their merry games—and wonder what would lie before them if God wearied of mankind."

NANCY SAYS

Divorce Law
Encourages
Living in Sin

OTTAWA (BUP)—Stringent Canadian divorce law encourages men and women to "live in sin," Sen. Nancy Hodges told the Senate Tuesday.

Sen. Hodges, a Liberal senator for British Columbia, spoke in support of a bill which would broaden divorce legislation to include cruelty, insanity and desertion as well as adultery as grounds for divorce.

The grey-haired lady senator emphasized that while she did not believe in divorce, she was being "practical and realistic."

"Until we do something to broaden our divorce laws we shall continue to contribute to the number of people who are determined—let us be frank about it—to live in sin," she said.

Many persons opposed to divorce, she said, claimed that "an ideal marriage is made in heaven. But when one has lived as long as I have . . . the conclusion one is forced to is that a good many marriages are made far from that place, in another place, and when I say 'another place,' I do not mean the House of Commons."

SHODDY TESTIMONY
Sen. Hodges, a former columnist for the Victoria Daily Times, and Speaker of the B.C. legislature emphasized that she was not advocating easier divorce in this country.

"Frankly, I do not think there is any easier way of getting a divorce than under our present law which merely requires proof or so-called proof of a single act of adultery," she said. But present divorce laws "have a tendency to be brought into disrepute by shoddy testimony."

She quoted from proceedings of a court case in which two private detectives were convicted of setting up a "love nest" to secure grounds for divorce.

She quoted a letter she received from a Victoria woman whose husband was placed in a mental institution 28 years ago. Why, she asked, could such a woman not get a divorce when others did simply by "simulating" evidence of adultery?

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Craving for Affection

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

One of the saddest persons in this often sad world is the young man or woman who feels terribly lonely and craves affection, but cannot accept it or react normally to it when it comes.

Many such persons, if touched affectionately on hand or arm or back, will recoil as if seared by a hot iron. Even as they shake hands they may suffer greatly from the momentary contact with another person, and they may quickly pull the hand away. Often, also, while shaking hands, they will be unable to look the newcomer in the eye. Because of self-consciousness, tenseness and shyness, the nerves to the blood vessels and sweat glands will be so stimulated that the hand may be icy cold and sopping wet.

A girl of this type, if asked by a man to go out for an evening, may have to refuse because quickly she becomes panicky. She may get nauseated or dizzy; she may fear she will faint or vomit or have to run to the toilet. If she should go out to dinner she may be unable to swallow any food, and that will embarrass her greatly.

She may be so self-conscious that instead of listening cheerfully to what the man is saying, and enjoying the human contact with him, she will be in an agony, wondering what she can talk about or say, or wondering how on earth she can fend the man off if he should become amorous.

AFRAID OF MEN

Unlike her normal sisters who, instinctively, know how to handle men, and hence have no fear of them, she is afraid of men and would prefer not to touch one, even with the proverbial 10-foot pole.

Perhaps in high school or college such a girl will become so horrified at learning details of the intimacies of sex life that she will go into a nervous breakdown, and will have to stay home for a year.

Her normal sisters will snuggle down happily into the arms of a loving and loved beau, but the poor schizoid girl cannot stand the thought of such physical contacts with another human being. As a baby she probably was not at all snugly, and she may then have been kissed or fondled by adoring aunts.

Always when such a girl comes into my office, I try particularly hard to put her at her ease and to make her feel my deep sympathy for her in her loneliness, but usually she shows no response either for friendliness or appreciation. Often, after a week around the place she will leave with only the coldest and curtest of goodbyes. Later, she may write a sad letter she greatly appreciated what I did for her, and she had much wanted to thank me from her heart, but the words just would not come: she was too shy to say them.

Always, in such cases, I have hated to make the necessary physical examinations because I know how distressing to the girl any exposure of her body is sure to be. Such women may be unable to accept even by a woman because the physical contacts and the exposure of the body are so distressing.

Many such women ask, "But why am I this way: so shut off from normal human contacts: from affection, and love, and perhaps from marriage, or certainly from a happy marriage?" And I ask, "When you were a child did your mother or father ever show you any affection?" Usually the answer is: "My mother never kissed me or put her arms around me, or told me she loved me, or showed me any affection. She could not show any, even to father, and eventually he deserted her. She was much like her mother who suffered from schizophrenia, and wound up in the state hospital."

BOTH SCHIZOID

There, I think, was the answer to the whole problem. The girl and her mother were both schizoid persons because they had inherited a small part of the curse that had wrecked the nerves of the grandmother. Some may ask, will the daughter and the mother go insane, too? No; my large experience with thousands of these people makes me much doubt if they will. They can live out a useful and often fairly successful life.

Many fight hard, and eventually overcome much of their shyness and diffidence. To some extent, they succeed in breaking through the stone wall which they have built around themselves. Lucky ones find someone whom they can love and who will love them. Some, on occasions, can break through the wall after taking two or three drinks, but then they will be in great danger of becoming an alcoholic.

Many can be helped by a kindly sensible psychiatrist who will encourage them to break down the barriers of reserve: to reach out for friendship and affection, and to accept these great gifts when they come.

Court Rejects Claim of IWA

Lawyer Tells Duncan Magistrate Company Met Terms of Contract

DUNCAN (CP)—A charge brought by the IWA against Western Forest Industries for altering the rates of pay of its employees while a new agreement was still under negotiation, was dismissed in police court here Tuesday by Magistrate Col. A. C. Sutton.

Wilfred H. Heffernan of Vancouver appeared for the company, Robert C. Weir of Nanaimo for the union.

The union charged that the act of the company in increasing the board rates of employees in its Gordon River operations from $2.25 per day to $2.50 per day, before the new agreement was signed which called for this increase, constituted a breach of the Industrial Conciliation Act.

Mr. Heffernan produced documents which showed that the only point on which the Western Forest Gordon River operations and the union disagreed was the matter of tradesmen's rates of pay. This matter was taken to a conciliation board, the finding has been given, and the two parties now are in the 18-day waiting period before effect is given to the conciliation board award.

He contended that the company enacted several of the new conditions called for, by increasing tradesmen's rates of pay and by granting pay for Thanksgiving.

Regarding the charges for board, he was successful in his argument that the board rates had nothing to do with an employee's terms of employment. It was a convenience, he argued, which the company maintained for the employees. They could avail themselves of the bunkhouse and cookhouse services, or board where they wished.

Magistrate Sutton said he "really can't see that board rates are a condition of employment." He dismissed the charge with costs of $5.50. Mr. Heffernan said the company was not seeking costs.

Premier Fulfills Forecast; Blaming Ottawa, Says Laing

SIDNEY—A prediction made a year ago that "Premier Bennett would blame Ottawa for just about everything" now is being borne out, Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, MLA, told the Sidney Hotel Tuesday night.

Mr. Laing, who made the earlier prediction, spoke of the seriousness of conditions when a provincial government wants to shove all blame for its own mistakes on to the senior government.

CPR Terminal At Nanaimo Ready in May

NANAIMO—New CPR freight terminal, on the site of the old Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. shipping wharves, is expected to be in operation in May.

Delivery of the new railway car, automobile, and passenger ferry "Princess of Vancouver" also is expected in May. Major construction job now is completion of the huge steel loading ramp, to be raised and lowered by machinery housed in massive gantry towers.

Outline of the dock now is marked by necessary cribbing and piling that will form the basis for the whole unit.

Railway approach to the new dock will be via an old connecting link between the E & N Railway and colliery company railway that operated from the wharf site to the abandoned Reserve Mine. More than five miles of new track have been laid for the new project.

ELECTRICITY REACHES INDIANS AT PORT ALBION RESERVES

UCLUELET—First central station electricity is now flowing to Port Albion via a submarine cable across Ucluelet Harbor, the B.C. Power Commission announced today.

The cable, which was energized this week, is serving power to some 69 customers including the Canadian Fishing Company plant at Port Albion and two nearby Indian reserves. The project involved an expenditure of approximately $23,000.

Source of power is the commission's diesel-electric generating station at Tofino airport.

Commissioner Charged With 'Dictatorship'

Ratepayers Seek Investigation

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—Charges of irregularities in the purchase of gravel for village roads exploded at a commission meeting here Tuesday night and will be heard as far away as the office of the deputy inspector of municipalities in Victoria.

The charges were contained in a letter to the village commission from the ratepayers' association. They were supported by Commissioner John Lambie, who accused Commissioner Sidney Waterfield, chairman of village public works, of "dictatorship, favoritism and creating a monopoly."

Commissioner Lambie said Commissioner Waterfield sold a gravel pit to truck operator Gordon Noren, who then supplied Campbell River with road gravel.

WANTS INVESTIGATION

Commissioner Lambie said no commissioner should have direct or indirect money transaction with the village and that he would, as a member of the finance committee, refuse to sign any warrant for work completed until the matter had been investigated by H. Brown, deputy inspector of municipalities.

Joe Bundy, ratepayers' president, said the matter had been brought to the commission's attention to halt gossip concerning irregularities in village affairs.

MLA DOUBTFUL

Magistrate Stands Pat On Haircuts

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts of Nanaimo says he'll continue to insist accused persons appear before him properly barbered.

"After all it is the Queen's court and a magistrate is entitled to have an accused come before him with at least a reasonable appearance," he said.

The case of "too much locks in the docks" came up in the legislature yesterday when Robert Strachan, (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle), asked Attorney-General Robert Bonner if the magistrate had authority to order removal of "sheep-dog haircuts."

The MLA said the magistrate twice ordered haircuts for youths before he'd hear their cases.

INFRINGEMENT

He suggested Magistrate Beevor-Potts order infringing on human rights. He asked if a magistrate could hold someone in contempt of court if he didn't like color of his shirt or the way he combed his hair.

The attorney-general said he knows of "no sentence which requires haircuts to be performed."

But all this isn't worrying the magistrate.

He said both instances involved 16-year-old boys whose hair was so long "I couldn't see their faces properly."

He added that the order apparently had good results.

The first youth sent for a haircut "has become one of the nicest boys in the area."

"He is married and cuts his hair shorter than mine."

Nanaimo Council Delays Action On Cemetery

NANAIMO — Controversial cemetery situation here was held in abeyance by city council Monday night pending further advice from Arthur Leynard, city engineer.

Meanwhile the cemetery committee recommended that the finance committee include $10,000 in the current year's budget for development of the new cemetery on the city-owned Beban estate.

Present plans call for progressive development of the cemetery land in five-acre segments.

Crucial Senate Test Begins for Ike Plan

Protectionists Open New Try to Cripple
Eisenhower's Tariff-Cutting Powers

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The Congressional battle over tariffs reopens in a Senate committee today with cabinet ministers lined up to defend President Eisenhower's low-tariff trade bill against the assaults of powerful protectionist forces.

The bill—the heart of the administration's global "more-tradeless-aid" program—survived by only seven votes a determined protectionist drive to cripple it in the House of Representatives Feb. 18.

Now it faces a crucial new test in the Senate where its opponents, under pressure from domestic industries, are ready with a series of restrictive amendments.

Senate finance committee hearings today will get the administration's case from treasury secretary George Humphrey, commerce secretary Weeks, and the agriculture undersecretary True D. Morse.

The hearings were expected to last two weeks. The unanswered question was whether the committee would accept the bill as submitted unaltered by the House, or amend it before sending it to the Senate for final action.

As of now it would extend the tariff-cutting Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act—which expires next June—for three more years and authorize the president to negotiate additional selective tariff reductions up to 15 per cent over that period in return for similar concessions from other trading nations.

A major threat is a heavily-backed, protectionist move to broaden the bill's "escape" clause which permits domestic industries threatened with increased foreign competition to seek tariff protection from the tariff commission. Now the president has power to overrule the commission's higher tariff recommendations.

PORT ALBERNI YOUTH SINGS 'LA TRAVIATA'

Jon Vickers of Port Alberni "was a robust Alfredo" in the Toronto Opera Festival production of "La Traviata" Tuesday night in Toronto, according to critic Bill Boss of the Canadian Press.

Boss in praising the work of the Island youth in the Verdi classic, said "his occasional upper-register lapses have been heard from better stages than Toronto's Royal Alexandra."

Ex-Yegg Calls For Separation Of Prisoners

Corporal punishment for crime is not effective as a means of correction, Herbert E. Wilson, one-time "King of the Safe-crackers," told two Kiwanis groups here Tuesday.

Corporal punishment had been administered criminals throughout history with no indications of crime reduction, he said.

Mr. Wilson, now retired and living at Courtenay, spent 12 years in San Quentin after a career that earned him his safe-cracker title. He spoke to both Victoria Kiwanians at noon Tuesday and to North Kiwanis Club at night.

He also opposed sending first offenders to prison to mingle with veterans in crime.

DIVIDE THEM
"You would not send youthful patients afflicted with measles into a pest-house to mingle with victims of diphtheria, leprosy, cholera or similar diseases," he said.

He advocated division of criminals into two classes; those criminal by instinct and those criminal by circumstances.

The 74-year-old former criminal said conditions creating crime should be studied as carefully as those creating disease.

His message for the individual: "Crime does not pay."

Mixed Smoker Set

A mixed smoker with entertainment by the concert group, "The Versatiles," will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in aid of the Schwabe fund in the Esquimalt Legion Hall.

Money will go to the fund for Mrs. Jacqueline Schwabe, now recovering at Mayo Clinic from two operations for a rare disease.

Funds for her cause were sponsored by the Victoria Lions Club and many city organizations have come to the club's assistance.

Brown Claims Magistrates Jail Indians For Just Having Liquor on Their Breath

Many magistrates in B.C. only crime is they have liquor on their breath." Attorney-General Robert Brown said the government is "taking full advantage" of the existing Indian Act. He said any representations to the federal government should be made by B.C. MPs in the House of Commons.

Mr. Brown urged the government to extend liquor privileges to Indians.

"The sooner native Indians are granted all the rights we are, the better off we will be," he said.

The Prince Rupert member said in his home riding, "large amounts in fines are being exacted from Indians, whose

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The world hockey championships are hogging all the glory—yes, even over the torrid Western Hockey League race for playoff positions—and a couple of ex-Victoria Cougars are in the middle of the mix-up.

Jack McIntyre, once a running mate for Ed Dorohoy, and Jim Fairburn, a real nifty in front of the net, are getting their share of goals for Canada in far-off Germany.

Jack will be best recalled for his partnership with Dorohoy and Eddie Mazur when that threesome was one of the highest scoring units in the circuit, in the Cougars' championship season of 1950-51.

He popped home 23 goals that year and got 57 assists, only one less than Dorohoy who was the league scoring champion with a total of 87 points. Mazur hit for 43 goals, a club record that is now in danger from the sharpshooting Andy Heberton who needs only three goals entering tonight's contest with Edmonton to set a new mark.

It has been pointed out in some dispatches that McIntyre has been one of the best of the V's on their current hunt for the world title. Never one to be exactly mean on the ice, Jack liked to bide his time until provocation demanded sterner measures; and if European hockey rules are what they are, which sometimes appears doubtful, then the game over there should suit Jack to the best of his ability.

Jack's Talents Often Hidden

Jack was always a good stickhandler, sometimes a great one, and at one time was considered one of the best junior prospects in the country. If there was any reason why he did not develop to his potential, it could be explained that his lackadaisical attitude to the business at hand was failing.

Fairburn, in his short visit here, was one of the more popular members of the club. He enjoyed his best year in his professional career as a Cougar, compiling 70 points on 33 goals and 37 assists in the 1952-53 season. Recalled by New Westminster the next season, Jim failed to live up to his previous record and was soon on his way to the Okanagan League.

A master at tip-in plays, Fairburn was a cutie around the net while a Cougar and it was with some surprise that the Cougars did not attempt to recruit him for duty again the following year. Fairburn, like McIntyre in a way, was not regarded as a rugged type, and in a previous season with Portland in the old Pacific Coast League, he went through the 70-game season without incurring a penalty.

City Fans Wish Them Well

Judging by what one reads, the V's have enough of the robust type of performer to stand the gaff of anything the Russians may throw at them (and the V's may toss in return)—enough that is to put McIntyre and Fairburn in a position where conceivably either one could become the hero of the piece.

And judging by the phone calls received in the office these days, the ex-Cougars are still fondly remembered by many.

And so while we all await with interest, rather a growing frenzy, as the battle with Russia approaches, we can only trust that Victoria's contribution, moral though it may be, to the V's, will do themselves proud when the biggest moment of their hockey lives arrives—which it will Sunday.

Bill Warwick Real 'Sinner' to German Fans

By ARCH MacKENZIE

DUESSELDORF, Germany (CP)—Bill Warwick, dubbed "The Sinner" by German sports writers, has qualified easily as the player fans at the world hockey championships like to boo most.

The honor rests lightly on his broad shoulders.

"Why do they ride you so much?" asked an American writer.

"Well," said Bill reflectively, "I'm not the gentlest guy in the world."

Warwick, left winger on the Dick-Grant-Bill brother line, has never played hockey any other way since he started as a hard-driving youngster in Regina.

Now 30, the scarred, 170-pound forward rose from the Regina parks hockey system to a brief, sickness-curtailed stay with New York Rangers in the National Hockey League during the Second World War. He came back down through a host of professional and senior teams in the United States and Canada. He was leading scorer and most penalized player in the Okanagan league this season.

Warwick talked about the European crowds as he and the rest of the club took things easy Tuesday. The Canadians, Russians and Americans all had a free day as they awaited today's games. The Czechs won over Sweden, 6-5, on a pair of third-period goals by Slavomir Barton;

Switzerland defeated Poland, 4-2, for its first victory in the tournament, and Germany also grabbed its first against Finland, 7-1.

As they awaited today's games—Canada's Pentiction V's meeting Switzerland at Cologne, the Russians and Americans clashing at Krefeld, Czechoslovakia scheduled against Germany at Dueseldorf, and Sweden meeting Finland, also at Dueseldorf.

In Pentiction's four games so far in the nine-country tournament which ends Sunday, the sight of Bill Warwick's helmeted figure emerging from the player's box has been enough to loose a roar from the crowd. Bill has scored nine of Canada's 37 goals, assisted on three others and taken five of the club's 19 penalties, mostly for roughing.

In him, European fans tend to see the personification of all they think is bad in Canadian hockey, and they let him know.

They shouted when the rugged winger capered down the ice after scoring in the 5-3 victory over the Czechs Saturday night, they booed during the playing of O Canada and they belittled their delight when Bill fell at centre ice Monday night against the Finns, who were swamped 12-0.

Warwick sat on the ice, drinking in the clamor, and then waved affably to the crowd. That touched off a new round of noise. But when the chips are down, Bill can play another kind of hockey, as demonstrated against the Czechs when he twice tied the score in the third period and then set up brother Grant with the winning goal.

"You might say we're playing the referees here," he says. "It takes us a period to find out what they are going to call."

His teammates agree. Nor is there any doubt in European minds that the North Americans and Europeans play different games. Fans here like their own best.

"Why turn it into boxing?"

said a German sports writer, shaking his head after the tough Canada-Czech game—picture hockey in spots—when the Canadians drew 23 minutes in penalties including a major to Kevin Conway for fighting.

On the other hand, some countries, including Sweden, are sympathetic to the argument that some teams here—particularly Poland and Czechoslovakia—have their own ways of breaking rules.

Most Canadian penalties so far have followed visible body or stick movements, while the Czechs and Poles used holding tactics that never would pass in Canada. And there was some kicking too, including swipes between the Russians and Czechs in their game.

V's Welcome Player Aid; Three Ill

DUESSELDORF, Germany (BUP)—The Pentiction V's, with three players on the sick list, warmly welcomed news today that two reinforcements were on the way from Canada.

Both Jim Middleton and Jack Taggart are well known to the V's from play in the Okanagan League.

The decision to send Middleton and Taggart was taken by playing coach Grant Warwick in a telephone conversation with Dr. Mel Butler, president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association.

Warwick phoned Butler when the club physician, Dr. W. H. White, told him forward Ernie Rucks, Ed Kassian and Dino Mascotto would not likely be ready for play in the big game against Russia next Sunday.

Rucks' injured shoulder is not responding to treatment and it was believed Kassian may have appendicitis. Mascotto has been unable to shake the effects of a severe cold.

Poona Gets Added Impost

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Irish-bred Poona II, who copped the $140,000 Santa Anita Handicap last week, Tuesday was given the penalty for winning—an additional nine pounds to carry in this week's $100,000 feature.

Poona had only 113 pounds in his winning handicap effort but Tuesday was assigned 122 for the San Juan Capistrano at about a mile and three-quarters on the grass course.

The San Juan is the last of Santa Anita's $100,000 added features for 1955.

High weight of 126 pounds was assigned by handicapper Jimmy Kilroe to the leading money winner and Kentucky Derby champion of 1954, A. J. Crevolin's Determiner.

JOINS ESKS

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos announced Tuesday night the signing of half-back Ray Perkins, third draft choice this year of Washington Redskins.

Tongues Were Waggin'

Not that Alberni High School Chieftain's D. Ward (centre) was tired, his tongue was hanging out just from concentration as he tried to figure out an escape route through Fletcher's Reg Derr, left and towering Paul Simpson. Tuesday night Fletcher's scored a 49-

36 victory over Alberni in a junior men's basketball playoff but Alberni won the Island title by virtue of 16-point victory they scored in first game of two-game, total-point series. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

CITY TEAM DROPS COAST PUCK TITLE

Victoria Midget All-Stars got hit on the rebound by a fired-up Kerrisdale midget club in the second game of a two-game, total-goal series for the Coast midget championship Tuesday night in New Westminster.

Beaten 5-4 Monday night in the first game, Kerrisdale bounced back to take the second game by a 12-3 count Tuesday night and win the series and championship by a total of 16-8 on the road.

Kerrisdale will now meet the winner of the Okanagan section playoffs in the B.C. semifinals.

Sooke Cagers In Island Final

Sooke juvenile girls rolled to a 31-26 Lower Island championship basketball victory Tuesday afternoon in the second game of a two-game total-point series.

The winning squad took the series by 16 points after accumulating an 11-point lead from the opening contest. Campbell River will be the Sooke team's opponent for the Island championship.

Duncan and Sooke meet in the hantam boys' division in the opening game of a two-game total-point series for the Lower Island championship at the Cec Fletcher's junior men's basketball club ran out of time and points too early Tuesday night and lost the Vancouver Island junior men's championship.

Fletchers defeated Alberni High School Chieftains, 49-36, at S. J. Willis High School gym Tuesday but the victory was not big enough as Fletchers had entered the game with a 16-point weight on their backs.

Alberni, having won the first game of the two-game, total-point series by a 60-44 score, staggered through in spite of Tuesday's loss to win the series by three points, 96-93.

The city club was ahead in the game 32-21 at half-time and had cut their deficit of series points to four. With four minutes left in the game, Fletchers not only overcame the series deficit but had forged into a one-point series lead.

But Alberni scored a basket to regain a one-point lead and then tucked the decision away with another hoop with a minute and a half left in the game. The Chieftains succeeded in stalling until the end of the game, protecting their series lead.

Paul Simpson and Ron Martin of Fletchers were the top scorers, with 17 and 15 points while Gary Panton with 12 led Alberni.

Alberni—Dave Price 4, Gary Panton 12, E. Gillies 2, L. McLean 2, N. Bailey 3, Ninkovich, Viskrom, W. Andrews 6, D. Ward 3, D. Shick 4. Total—36.

CAMPANELLA ON MEND; GETS FULL USE OF HAND

VERO BEACH, Fla., (AP)—For the first time since the 1953 world series, Roy Campanella took a full grip on the bat Tuesday and rapped Pete Wojty's first pitch past Carl Furillo in right field. He sizzled the next past Chico Fernandez at short.

"See," said the all-star Brooklyn catcher "I can use my full hand. Last year I could use only two fingers."

Flyers Play Here Tonight

Stamps Tie Quakers, Share Second; Canucks Hold Flyers, Now Fourth

Edmonton 0, Vancouver 0; Calgary 4, Saskatoon 4

Victoria Cougars take their place in the hot skillet that is the Western Hockey League playoff race tonight as they host Edmonton's league-leading Flyers at Memorial Arena.

And if the Cougars can do as well as did Vancouver Canucks and Calgary Stampeders Tuesday night they will come out unscathed.

A 4-4 tie with Saskatoon Quakers enabled Stampeders to move into a second-place tie with the Cougars Tuesday, while a scoreless stalemate between Canucks and Flyers allowed the Canucks to take over sole possession of fourth place, New Westminster being relegated to fifth.

The game here is important in that the Cougars have two games in hand over Calgary, but even more so in that other action this week sees the Cats meeting the Canucks in a home-and-home series, Friday at Vancouver and Saturday here. The consequences are obvious as Canucks now trail Cougars and Stamps by only three points.

The double shutout in Vancouver was the second of the current season, the Flyers and Cougars having played to scoreless decision in their last meeting here.

CLOSE GAP
 The shutouts were the fifth of the year for both goalie Glen Hall of the Flyers and John Bower of the Canucks. Marcel Pelletier of the Cougars leads the league with six.

The Stamps had to come from behind twice to tie the Quakers, who now are virtually eliminated from a playoff berth.

Quakers led 2-1 at the end of the first period and were leading 4-3 in the third until Pat Lundy tied the count at seven minutes.

Other Calgary goal-getters were Ray Barry, George Parageter and Sandy Hucul. Vic Lynn scored a pair for the Quakers and Len Haley and Doug Bentley got singletons.

Game time tonight is 8:30.

England declared today at 371 for seven. Australia finished the day with 82 for two.

Australia's Ray Lindwall gave the crowd some consolation when he became the first Aussie fast bowler to take 100 wickets in the tests against England. He finished with three for 77.

Loi, Humez Move Up In Latest Ring List

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy's Duilio Loi has become the leading lightweight contender and France's Charley Humez has been boosted to the No. 2 spot among the middleweight challengers in the latest boxing ratings of Ring Magazine.

There was a wholesale shake-up of every division from the lightweight class up in the March ratings, which were released today.

In another major shift, Bob Baker of Pittsburgh, who has won eight straight, moved from fourth place to third in a swap of heavyweight positions with Ezzard Charles, the former champion. It was the lowest Charles has been rated in many years.

Cuba's Nino Valdes still was listed first and England's Don Cockell second.

THREE TOP BERTH

Loi ranked second a month ago, was advanced to the top berth as a result of Paddy Demarco's knockout by France's Serafin Ferrer. Demarco, the former lightweight ruler from Brooklyn, had been ranked as the leading contender. He was dropped to the No. 4 spot and Ferrer, who had been unranked, was jumped to seventh.

Humez, the European middleweight titleholder, valued from fourth to second on the strength of his fifth-round technical knockout of Pierre Langlois Monday night.

Earl Walls of Toronto and Edmonton took fifth spot.

In the light heavyweight division, Harold Johnson of Philadelphia regained second place following his knockout of Paul Andrews of Buffalo, N.Y. Andrews fell from second to fifth.

Kid Gavilan, the former welterweight champion from Cuba, dropped to fourth behind Carlos Basilio of Canastota, N.Y.

Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., and Tony Demarco of Boston.

There were only a few minor changes in the other divisions.

Brook Trout Champion

NEW YORK (CP)—An 8 lb. 14 oz. trout taken by Stan Reynolds of Wetaskiwin, Alta., from Alberta's Brazeau river won first prize in the open brook trout division of the 1954 fishing contest conducted by Field and Stream magazine.

HOCKEY PLAYOFF

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Kimberley Dynamiters and Vernon Canadians will meet here Friday night in the first game in the best-of-seven playoff for the Savage Cup and the B.C. senior amateur hockey championship.

PAUL BROWN SPEAKS

Grid War Still Simmers

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)—Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland Browns, champions of the National Football League, served notice Tuesday that the war between Canadian and American professional leagues is far from over.

Brown, on vacation here, objected to the tendency of individual clubs on both sides of the border to sign separate agreements respecting each other's contracts and options with their player talent and insisted that any interleague pact would have to include all Canadian and American clubs.

"There can just never be a lasting peace on any other terms," Brown said.

The NFL's Washington Redskins and Calgary Stampede of the Western Interprovincial Football Union already have signed a "separate peace" and Edmonton Eskimos of WIFU are negotiating for similar agreements with NFL clubs.

Brown raised particular objection to a decision by NFL commissioner Bert Bell to prevent Detroit Lions from signing Gordon Malloy, a University of Miami halfback, because Malloy already had been signed by Montreal Alouettes of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union.

Although Montreal has signed no agreement with the Browns, Brown described Bell's decision as motivated by the fact that the Alouettes had never taken any players claimed by the Detroit club.

"With our Cleveland team it's different," Brown continued. "We've been hit pretty hard by Canadian teams taking men we had under contract."

Brown mentioned Floyd Huggins, a Florida fullback whom Cleveland claimed as their property and who was signed by Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the WIFU; end Mac Speedie, who jumped the Browns two years ago to play with Saskatchewan Roughriders, and half-back Ken Carpenter, whom the Riders grabbed from the Browns last season.

PLAYED WITH OTTAWA

He also could have mentioned a couple of tackles, Bob Gain and John Kissell, each of whom jumped the Cleveland roster to play a season with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four before the Browns induced them to return.

The Browns were not likely to feel more kindly toward the Canadian clubs as a result of losing their first, third, sixth and seventh draft choices—centre Kurt Burris, quarter Bob Freeman, centre Jack Locklear and halfback Leroy Bolden—to Canadian clubs, although all four were free agents and not subject to the current negotiations.

COCKELL MAY FIGHT IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver fight promoter Mickey McGuire said Tuesday he will try to match Britain's Don Cockell with either Earl Walls of Edmonton or Toronto in a fight here this summer.

McGuire said he would be prepared to offer Cockell $20,000 to defend his title here providing he makes a good showing against Rocky Marciano in a fight scheduled for San Francisco in May.

Walls defends his Canadian heavyweight title against Parker in Toronto Monday night.

Shuttle Tourney Opens

MONTREAL (BUP)—Don Smythe of Toronto was favored to retain his single title today as the Canadian badminton championships opened at the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, but he faced a threat from a 22-year-old British Columbian.

The westerner, Dave McTaggart of Vancouver, B.C., said flatly before the tourney got under way "I'm going to win."

Cricket Tourney To Be Revived

VANCOUVER (CP)—The inter-provincial cricket tournament will be revived this year after a three-year layoff, Vancouver cricket officials said Tuesday.

Officials said the round-robin tournament would be held in Vancouver during the first week of August.

Teams from British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba and Ontario are expected to compete. Ontario won the tournament when it was last held.

Mantle, Mantle, Mantle —That's Mickey's Dream

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Three brothers in the same outfield? Never happened before. But centre field star Mickey Mantle thinks the day will come when he will be flanked by his twin brothers Roy and Ray in the New York Yankee outfield.

"That will be the greatest thrill of my life," Mickey mused. "Imagine Roy and Ray on the same team with me in the big leagues . . . and on the Yankees to boot? It's something I've dreamed about."

Roy Mantle in right, Mickey Mantle in centre, Ray Mantle in left. There never was anything like it. Back in the 1920s and '30s, Pittsburgh had Paul Waner in right, and Lloyd, his brother, in centre. There were three DiMaggios playing in the majors at one time but on different clubs.

Mickey was an interested spectator at Monday's intra-squad game among the Yankee fledglings but he had eyes only for Roy and Ray as he discussed his brothers' quick rise into professional ranks.

"It makes me feel old just watching them," said the erstwhile boy wonder who is all of 23 now. "They're 19. That's how old I was when I attended one of those schools. That was back in 1951."

"Neither one has a very strong arm but they're both pretty good hitters and they can run like deer."

Cricket Tourney To Be Revived

VANCOUVER (CP)—The inter-provincial cricket tournament will be revived this year after a three-year layoff, Vancouver cricket officials said Tuesday.

Shuttle Tourney Opens

MONTREAL (BUP)—Don Smythe of Toronto was favored to retain his single title today as the Canadian badminton championships opened at the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, but he faced a threat from a 22-year-old British Columbian.

The westerner, Dave McTaggart of Vancouver, B.C., said flatly before the tourney got under way "I'm going to win."

DRUGS WORK WONDERS

2 Montreal Doctors Credited With Find

NEW YORK (CP)—Time magazine says pills and injections of two inexpensive drugs are being used successfully in the treatment of emotional illness. It credits two Montreal psychiatrists with pioneer work in the development of one of the drugs.

The magazine says the new drugs are as important, in their way, as the germ-killing sulphas discovered in the 1930s.

They are chlorpromazine, a synthetic compound, and reserpine, a pure alkaloid from the juices of the snakeroot, crude extracts of which have been used for centuries by medicine men in India.

First in North America to use chlorpromazine on mental patients, says the magazine, was Berlin-born Dr. Heinz Edgar Lehmann, assistant professor of psychiatry at McGill University and clinical director of Verdun Protestant Hospital.

With Dr. Gorman Hanrahan, he tried chlorpromazine first on victims of manic-depressive psychosis in the manic phase—the kind of patients who are admitted to the hospital "swinging from chandeliers that aren't there."

Injections of chlorpromazine worked wonders. Men and women who had been continuously manic for a year or more quieted down. Among 77 manics, Dr. Lehmann saw no total failures; 37 recovered sufficiently to go home.

In schizophrenia cases marked by extreme excitement and by persecution delusions, Dr. Lehmann found chlorpromazine most effective.

Credit Group Denies CCF 'Spy' Charges

Arnold Webster is "under a bit of a misapprehension," W. Geoffrey Ellis, president of the Credit Bureau of Victoria, said today in commenting on remarks made in the legislature earlier this week which reflected on credit associations in general.

Mr. Webster on Monday asked for government action to halt "the community-wide spying systems" of such associations and the handing out of personal information willy-nilly.

Mr. Webster urged credit associations be regulated by charter.

"Everyone must agree they should not set themselves out and provide information about anyone to almost anyone—that comes close to the meaning of a police state," he said.

In reply to this, Mr. Ellis said: "Mr. Webster is incorrectly informed about the function of credit bureaus."

"We don't do any spying. We merely record information about people's paying habits. 'Rarely, if ever, do we phone a neighbor for information. We prefer to phone the person himself and explain why the information is required; that we are trying to help him get the credit he desires."

"We don't make the record. The individual does that. We merely record it. And we're only interested in his paying habits; not his morals or social behavior."

Elk Lake Turf Plan to Go to Regional Board

Victoria Not Committed, Saanich Assured at Round-Table Discussion

Capital Regional Planning Board will be called upon by city and Saanich councils to examine proposals for a race track and park on Elk Lake watershed property following an intermunicipal round-table discussion Tuesday.

City gave Saanich unofficial assurance that no further negotiations will be made with Island Turf Club pending receipt of the CRPB report and a subsequent Saanich-Victoria meeting.

Saanich councillors, led by Reeve Joseph Casey, who came to City Hall to discover the extent of city commitments, retired satisfied "... that the city isn't trying to put one over on us."

TO FACE STORM
They had the assurance of Acting Mayor Robert Macmillan that Victoria wants Saanich in on any deal. They had Ald. Arthur Dowell's promise that when and if any lease comes before council it will face a "stormy session."

Ald. W. F. Pinfold, just returned, with a Hawaii tan, from a six-week vacation, underlined the fact that city council "is not tied up" with the racing concern. Ald. Austin Curtis said "It would be highly improper to try to force something on Saanich that they don't want."

Acting Mayor Macmillan (Mayor Claude Harrison is in Ottawa until Thursday) chaired the meeting of the two councils in the mayor's office.

In an atmosphere thick with cigar smoke, the proposition of Island Turf Company to erect a $350,000 track on the 80-acre city-owned land parcel was taken apart and examined. Saanich councillors, because the land lies within their municipal boundaries, were concerned that the city might be closing some deal which would react to their detriment.

SAANICH WORRIED
Reeve Casey explained that word that the city had a draft agreement already made up with the track promoters had worried Saanich. That's why council had written the city and asked the meeting be held.

Acting Mayor Macmillan explained that city council has at present only a six-month lease in effect to the track company for exploratory purposes. Council had asked the city solicitor Arthur Patton and the mayor to draw up a 30-year lease and bring it back to council.

But, "the point is, the city has not given them a lease, and not all members of city council are 100 per cent in favor of any lease," he added.

'HANDLED BADLY'
Ald. Dowell confirmed his statement. "I'm not in favor of it in the present form. It's been handled badly by both councils. I don't excuse myself one little bit. We have no right to put onto Saanich anything they don't want."

Ald. Geoff Edgelow admitted Saanich "has a legitimate beef." "But we weren't in a position to tell you anything. When they came back to the city, we told them to see you. Nothing has been finalized here," he added.

Saanich councillors pointed out many of the obstacles which would stand in the way of their complete agreement to any race-track scheme. And the city would apparently have to go to Saanich to ask rezoning for the track area.

S. W. Brock, Saanich council, wanted to know if sewage arrangements would affect Elk Lake. He said he asked at a meeting Monday with company

Cacti Easily Grown in House

Cacti are considered to be the most easily grown house plants. They are indeed the most tolerant, yet to grow them well requires some knowledge of their individual habits and needs.

Listed in order of importance — sun, water, ventilation—these essentials will still not produce success unless the plants are given a good soil.

The globular or low growing types will do well in a gritty soil. The taller types of cylindrical habit require a richer mixture, so add a little screened compost. A light dusting of bonemeal to each batch of prepared soil is sufficient fertilizer for these groups.

The epiphyllums and opuntias, having either so-called leaves, or flat pads, (actually these are the stems for the flowers when produced) will do much better in a rich humus with coarse grit to keep it open. This group will need liquid fertilizer after flower buds show. Three applications (one teaspoon of dry balanced fertilizer to a quart of water) at 10-day intervals will improve the show of bloom.

Cacti need water just as much as other plants, but because of their physical structure they are able to keep a supply in reserve for times of drought. Under pot culture, however, cacti in small pots should be watered liberally from March through the summer. As with other plants, never water if the soil is already moist, and if in doubt—DON'T. A maximum amount of sunlight is a must, and this factor coupled with free air circulation in summer, and cool dry conditions in winter will result in most species flowering at their appointed time.

Will Forgery Case Revived

'Irregularities' by B.C. Official Alleged in Million-Dollar Estate

A CCF MLA battled with Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday over the handling of the five-year-old, $1,000,000 Thomson will case.

William Moore, the CCF member for Comox, charged there were "grave irregularities" in the office of the provincial administrator, whom he later identified as Carl Stewart.

Mr. Moore said one of his constituents, held a legal heir to one-third the million-dollar estate left by the late James Thomson, asked him to raise the issue.

2 Provincial Buildings in City Scorned

Two provincial government buildings in Victoria—the courthouse and the motor vehicle branch offices—were termed a disgrace in the legislature Tuesday.

Liberal MLA Bruce Brown, of Prince-Rupert, said there "are better barns" than the motor vehicle building. "It's a disgrace, you walk in there and crawl up the stairs to see an old plank balcony, and unpainted wooden walls," he said.

"Let's get a decent building over there," he said.

"The courthouse is a disgrace too," interjected Randolph Harding, (CCF—Kaslo—Slocan).

Mr. Brown said "the motor vehicle building has been there for not less than 50 years." He said a new building would boost the morale of the workers.

Bennett Silent On Ottawa Visit For Kaiser Talk

Premier Bennett is still keeping mum on plans he may have to appear before the House of Commons external affairs committee to defend his government's deal on the Kaiser Dam.

Tuesday, the committee voted to invite provincial representatives to appear to discuss the international rivers act, which would place the Kaiser deal under the control of the federal government.

Questioned in the legislature by Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, the premier said he had not received any invitation, and later, he told newsmen it was "another discourtesy" that the press knew of it before he did.

According to Ottawa reports, no invitations have yet been sent out. The committee merely decided to call in provincial representatives.

Private Funeral Conducted for Mrs. L. W. Garrish

A private funeral service was held Tuesday night from Hayward's chapel for Mrs. Lillian Winifred Garrish, who died here Feb. 26 at the age of 70.

She was the wife of a well-known Victoria hardware man, Julian Garrish, 1354 Beach Drive.

Born in London, England, she had been a resident here six years.

Survivors, besides her husband, are one son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrish, Kamloops; son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Hoodless, Victoria; three grandchildren, and three sisters in England.

Rev. O. L. Jull officiated at the service, and cremation followed.

Local Teamsters Win Wage Boost

Two sublocals of Victoria Teamsters (AFL-TLC) have won wage boosts.

About 20 men at MacDonalds Consolidated have accepted a company offer of from three to nine cents an hour. Warehousemen received five cents, raising them to $1.44, ordermen got nine cents, making their rate $1.60. All other classifications got three cents.

Members of the Teamsters employed by Stewart & Hudson Ltd. agreed to an eight-cent-an-hour wage boost, an additional paid holiday and a 44-hour work week. They had worked 47.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. New Barker (Mother of 5)

A question frequently asked by first-time mothers: "Why is it necessary for baby to have more than milk during the first few months?"

Answer dept. While milk is the best-known, almost complete food, it does not supply enough blood-building iron, vitamin C (for healthy gums and tissues) and vitamin D (for strong bones and teeth). Hence, orange juice is added for vitamin C; fish-oils for vitamin D; enriched cereals for iron, calcium and B-vitamins.

Taste-ful tip. Gerber's Strained Egg Yolks have a delicate, fresh-egg flavor that's especially appealing to baby's wakening taste buds. Add to this, appealing, sunny color... a smooth, custard-like consistency, and you've a specialty made to order for a royal heir's taste. Rich in vitamin A and blood-building iron, Gerber's Egg Yolks are completely heat-sterilized for baby's protection.

Protective agent. A budget-minded mother tells me that a plastic tablecloth, or regular sheet plastic, makes a good, inexpensive mattress cover for baby's crib. Waterproof, odorless, easy to clean.

5 in 1 for a solid start. When baby's ready for solid food—usually cereal at first—you'll find Gerber's Cereals helpful for that first try with textured food. A selection from Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat and mixed cereal, make it ever so easy to offer baby variety. All are enriched with the supplementary iron, calcium and B-vitamins baby needs shortly after birth. All are pre-cooked and ready to serve. Simply add milk, formula or other liquids. Result: a smooth, good-tasting texture—bland, but distinctive flavors. Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada.

Mr. Bonner said he would compare letters handed him by Mr. Moore, outlining charges against the administrator, with the official report by Mr. Crane.

"I am not attacking anybody," answered Mr. Moore. "If there is nothing in the report (of Mr. Crane) I don't see why the attorney-general won't let me see it."

The attorney-general, obviously angered, said Mr. Stewart was not present to defend himself, "and that is a principle which I very much resent." He said many matters come before him "which must be regarded as confidential."

"Can the attorney-general assure me all necessary action was taken when that report was filed," continued Mr. Moore. "Is the matter closed?" The attorney-general has attempted to put me in my place, but I would like to remind this House the attorney-general has been in possession of that report for two years. We must assume he intends doing nothing about it," he said.

TRAVELING BENCH CONSIDERED

Lawyer MLA's Criticize Stipendiaries

Two lawyer members of the legislature Tuesday asked for a review of the practice of appointing laymen as stipendiary magistrates in rural areas.

Liberal Bruce Brown, of Prince Rupert said "some of these men are former loggers or fishermen, and in some cases can hardly read or write."

"I am not saying they are not conscientious, but they are not the kind of people we should have," said Mr. Brown. He added that stipendiary magistrates "receive no fees unless they convict somebody."

"I am not saying they would knowingly convict someone who is not guilty for three or four dollars, but the temptation is there, and it is not conducive to good administration of justice," said Mr. Brown.

George Gregory (Lib., Victoria) said he would "like to see all stipendiary magistrates pensioned off, and turned into senators or something like that to show our appreciation."

Both members said appointments should only be made where the person has some legal training.

Mr. Brown further suggested appointment of traveling magistrates to cover rural areas.

Attorney-General Bonner said he appreciated the views of the two lawyer MLAs and that "the position of magistrates is one under serious consideration."

"However, I don't think the impression should go abroad this province has not been well served by these men," he said. They have brought conscientiousness, honesty and goodwill to their appointments."

He said revisions of the Criminal Code, which will be implemented on April 1, "will make magistrates position even more serious."

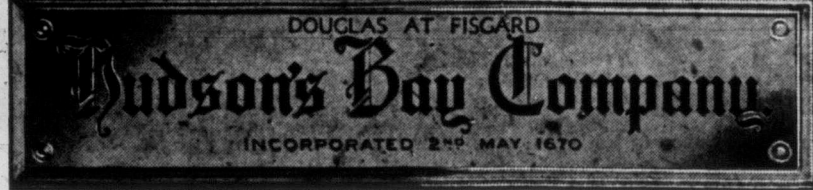

Mr. Bonner said the traveling magistrates suggestion already is under study.

Twenty-three members are under suspension.

SPRING WILL SOON HAVE SPRUNG

Being our Very Own Report on the approaching Equinox, writ by hand by Our Very Own Island Digest correspondents.

CLEANING UP IN CUTTING CORNERS

CUTTING CORNERS, V.I.—A spring Clean-Up and Town Improvement campaign has already been launched here, and already notable results have been achieved.

A public collection has already been collected to Clean-Up the Town, and already enough has been collected to buy Lem a one-way ticket to Vancouver.

Citizens are already remarking on the distinct improvement already noted in the appearance of the town.

SPRING COMES FIRST TO LUNCHVILLE, V.I.

LUNCHVILLE, V.I.—This progressive, bustling Island community is leaving no stone unturned to make sure spring will come first to Lunchville.

A daffodil drop from airplanes is being planned over near-by Wallopem Beach, to show Wallopem Beach where spring comes first to.

To make sure Lunchville's Daffodil Drop will reach Wallopem Beach early, we are not going to wait for the daffs to bloom, but are going to drop the bulbs.

In sacks.

With a few rocks for ballast.

We will show near-by Wallopem Beach where spring comes first to.

THINGS PRETTY QUIET IN WALLOPEM BEACH

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—Things are pretty quiet in Wallopem Beach, this being the off-season like. But spring is coming, and no doubt things will liven up. No doubt. But right now, things are pretty quiet in Wallopem Beach, this being the off-season, like.

MR. GOON FAILS TO STAY IN BED

GOON CENTRE, V.I.—There certainly are signs of spring here in Goon Centre. The bank cashier has taken it on the lamb, Magistrate James Juggem is preparing for spring courting, Farmer Brown is ready to throw out the first travelling salesman, and his daughter has bleached two four sacks for her spring wardrobe.

The leading citizen of Goon Centre, Mr. Abner Goon, says he is sure spring is here, because he feels so tired and drowsy, he must have spring fever. He also says he plans to spend tomorrow in bed.

However, his wife, Mrs. Abner Goon, asked him what was the difference between spring fever and fall fever, winter fever and summer fever, so he won't spend the day in bed after all.

(Ed. Note: The above dispatch is from our Goon Centre correspondent, Mrs. Abner Goon).

'Tell Mummy Come Home!'

That's a lispng quote from 18-month-old Jackie to daddy George before he left Monday to be at the bedside of his sick wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Schwabe, in Rochester's Mayo clinic. Little Jackie expressed words of big sister Miriam, 9, and brother Paul, 11. Their mother is recovering from second of two serious operations for rare disease. Doctors believe husband's presence there will aid convalescence. Bills for protracted treatment have been met by public contribution to Victoria Lions Club fund.

Ratepayers Organize To Fight Race Track

250-Member Group Formed Against Proposed Beaver Lake Horse Project

An Elk Lake Ratepayers Association with a membership of 250 has been formed to oppose the establishment of a race track on 80 acres of city-owned property at Beaver Lake site, it was announced today.

DOCKYARD OVER 65s MAY STAY

Ottawa has reversed its decision on compulsory retirement of HMC Dockyard civilian employees at 65 years of age.

Copy of the DND directive was received today by National Defense Employees' Vancouver Island branch. It reads:

Civilian employees may be recommended for retention beyond age 65 provided the employee is efficiently carrying out his duties and his retention would impose an undue financial burden, and provided it is in the interest of the department to retain him.

Stores Swinging To 'No-Discount' On U.S. Currency

While major department stores here some time ago gave up the practise of discounting U.S. currency presented by customers, more small stores are expected to adopt this attitude now the premium has dropped to around one per cent.

Alan Leith, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants' section, said today most storekeepers are anxious "to be the same."

He said a committee had been appointed in January (when the rate was around three per cent) to formulate a guiding policy but suggested that the view of the recent decline: "The committee won't have much to do."

Traffic Body to Hear IWA Safety Director

Representatives of municipal councils, as well as from service clubs and fraternal organizations, are expected to attend, while a general invitation to the public has also been issued. Chairman will be Les Entwistle.

Higher Court to Hear Evidence in Assault, Attempted Robbery Case

Two naval ratings charged with assault with intent to rob were committed for trial in higher court today.

Committed by Magistrate H. C. Hall following preliminary hearing in city police court were Clifford William LeRoque and Gerald McGurk, both 21, naval ratings stationed at Royal Roads Canadian Services College.

They were charged following attempted robbery of Chinese taxi driver Joe Kong about 2 a.m. on Feb. 20.

At the preliminary hearing today, of 545 Fisgard, testified he received a call from the 600 block Kerr Avenue at about 1.40 a.m.

He said he picked up the two accused there and they told him to go to the 1100 block Johnson Street.

While they were proceeding toward that destination one of the accused asked him if he had a two-way radio in the cab, he said. Kong replied that he didn't, he testified.

As they approached the Roundabout, Douglas and Gorge Road, he said they swore at him and said they wanted to go to Royal Roads.

Kong said he told them he didn't have time and suggested he take them to another taxi stand.

He said he was struck twice on the head. Kong then stopped the taxi and attempted to get out. He said one grabbed his neck while the other searched his pockets.

He testified his overcoat was torn and a button was ripped off his shirt as he attempted to break free.

He said he ran into Mac's Java Cup on Gorge Road. While he was there, one of the accused attempted to start the car. They then ran away.

No money was taken, he testified.

Four youths chased the accused and held them until police arrived.

Detective Norm Bath said McGurk had three cents and LeRoque 25 cents when they were searched at the detective office after their arrest.

Kaiser Alternate Offered to B.C.

$550,000 SURVEYS FOR FROBISHER

Frobisher interests plan the expenditure of $550,000 in northern British Columbia this year on surveys for their proposed $270,000,000 hydroelectric and metallurgical development.

This information was revealed today when Lands Minister R. E. Sommers tabled correspondence between the government and the Frobisher-Ventures-Northwest Power Industries group of companies.

The development will be centred on an industrial town-site at Taku Inlet, on the border between B.C. and Alaska.

Air and land surveys, including six field parties, will conduct the exploration work.

High Legion Group To Discuss Neish Expulsion

Struggle for reinstatement in Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, of Elgin Neish, recently expelled because he is president of the Victoria Peace Council, has been referred to the Legion provincial command.

Meanwhile, Mr. Neish says he was barred from entry at a recent meeting because he did not have a 1955 membership. When he attempted to have it renewed he was told that he could not renew it.

Mr. Neish, trade unionist and former candidate for city council, was suspended from membership when he would not deny that he is president of the Victoria Peace Council.

Dominion Command of the Legion has branded the Canadian Peace Council a Red front organization. But Mr. Neish says the local peace council is not affiliated with the national group.

Council to Hear of Mayor's Trip

Mayor Claude Harrison arrived back from Ottawa and appeared at City Hall today apparently satisfied with his trip to ask federal aid in the reconstruction of Point Ellice Bridge.

He told newsmen he was reserving comment on the issue until he had made a full report to council. Council is not slated to meet again until March 10.

Two committee meetings are scheduled this week—finance on Thursday morning and public works on Friday.

STRAIT 'FIREWORKS' TONIGHT AS ATHA-B GUNNERS PRACTICE

Star shells and flares will lace the sky over Juan de Fuca Strait this evening, as the Pacific Command destroyer HMCS Athabaskan carries out night firing exercises.

The ship was scheduled to start working at 1 p.m., and to continue through to 11 p.m., with surface and anti-aircraft firing practice.

The drills are a routine part of RCN training, but invariably bring forth a barrage of calls to police and B.C. Pilotage, reporting a ship "in distress."

Two Firms Proposed Murphy Creek Study

Two giant British Columbia firms last year offered to examine construction of an alternative to the Kaiser dam on Arrow Lakes, which would provide a huge new block of power for interior B.C.

Coriolated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. of Trail, and the West Kootenay Light and Power Co. made the offer to Lands Minister R. E. Sommers in March, 1954, it was disclosed in correspondence tabled in the Legislature.

The two firms proposed studies at the Murphy Creek dam site, a few miles above Trail on the Columbia River.

R. G. Anderson, general manager and a vice-president of West Kootenay, told Mr. Sommers the national department of natural resources was conducting an investigation of the Murphy Creek site.

"Drilling results to date are favorable," Mr. Anderson said.

Mr. Anderson said development of Murphy Creek "would be more sound" than the Kaiser proposal. He said the Kaiser dam "would have little or no power potential, and would have an adverse effect on the Murphy Creek site."

Mr. Anderson told Mr. Sommers if continued drilling proves favorable, West Kootenay and the giant CM and S "would definitely be interested."

Mr. Anderson was the only member of the Columbia River Advisory Board who voted against the Kaiser dam proposal.

Sommers Advised to Wait For Further Information

The correspondence also showed that General A. G. L. McNaughton, chief of the Canadian division of International Joint Commission, pleaded with the B.C. government to hold up the Kaiser dam deal because of "remarkable" new information on Columbia River development.

Mr. Sommers wired General McNaughton on Sept. 17, last year, advising him B.C. proposed to enter into an agreement with Kaiser interests for construction of the $25,000,000 dam at Castlegar Narrows, on Lower Arrow Lake.

The next day, the general wired back, asking Mr. Sommers to hold up the agreement because of remarkable new possibilities of advantages to B.C. which are indicated by new topographical studies now in progress.

General McNaughton said a report was under preparation and that it was "most important, repeat most, that you and Premier Bennett have this new information before taking conclusion" on the Arrow Lakes project.

Mr. Sommers wired in return that "an agreement has been executed" between the government and Kaiser.

Meeting Planned on Rural Saanich Schools

G. L. Chatterton, of District 63 (rural Saanich) school board, said today representatives of numerous district organizations will be called to a special meeting to discuss a three-year school building program.

The chairman said the meeting will be held within two weeks.

This is in line with directions the board received from a mass public meeting recently when residents stated emphatically they wanted only a "short-term, three-year building program."

Residents would not support a five-year project. They were strongly against what they termed "frills"—auditoriums, gymnasiums and elaborate extras.

The board will follow this directive. Among the groups who will be asked to send representatives to the special board meeting are the PTA, chambers of commerce, women's auxiliaries, ratepayers, unions, farmers, councils, builders and architects.

DROODLES

This Mexican is driving his little car to a bull fight arena where he'll sit in the stands and yell, "O-le, O-le, O-le," which means "Boy, what a lousy seat for 10 pesos!" Once when Dr. Kitzenger was visiting back home he decided to demonstrate bull fighting technique to us. He borrowed Grandpaw Tooten's red flannels for a cape and used an umbrella for a banderilla. We didn't have a bull so he went out to the pasture and began poking our cow, Marybelle, in the ribs with the umbrella and yelling "Uh-Toro!" Well, after about eight pokes Marybelle got sore and chased him around the field for 20 minutes. It turned out okay though. Dr. K. jumped the fence and for the next two days Marybelle gave milk.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Kiddies Play, Mother Shops,
So Everyone Is Happy

By PENNY SAVER

Say mothers, you needn't worry about your tads getting into mischief while you're trying to buy them clothes. . . I've found a little tots' store that provides a furnished and toy-equipped play-pen for the wee ones. They play while you shop in this store—and everyone is happy. Here, I also found some adorable little-girl sweaters that truly portray the sugar-and-spice qualities of little girls. The sweaters are made of snugly, soft nylon. A tiny Peter Pan collar is trimmed with bunny wool and non-tarnish gold thread. Little buttons at the throat save the neckline from stretching. You can buy the pullover with long sleeves for $2.95 from sizes 2 to 6X. Awful sweet!

They were just unpacking an other group of new nylon sweaters, and the dainty colors of pink, light blue and white attracted my gaze. I discovered they are fashioned "just like mommy's!" Sleeve insets and rounded neckline are miniatures of our favorite "grown-up" sweaters. These have brilliant and tiny pearls scattered on the collars and down the front panels, so that little ones, too, can have fancy, dress up sweaters. Cardigans are $3.95; pullovers, $3.25, and shrugs, $3.50.

Here's something for the mothers of tiny tads! If you are driven to distraction because of the wandering straps on their little overalls, I've found a solution and cure for your headache. These overalls feature the regular dome-fastened pants, but the bib top is different. Instead of straps, the top features a jumper type front and back, thus eliminating straps, and substituting solid blouse-like tops. The corduroy is adorably figured with children's designs or in solids with a waffle design. Another thing, the backs of the overalls are elasticized to ensure good fitting. How much? $2.95 a pair. And are they cute?

Now for mother . . . I've been spying on a smart dress, and now I discover it's on sale. Thought I'd pass on the good news. It's a shaded blue striped one with the stripes going into inside points . . . you know, the flattering style.

Three-quarter sleeves turn back into pert light blue cuffs, and a rolled semi-Chinese collar is in a matching hue. A little gold pin is placed at the throat, and it's all the jewelry it needs. The skirt is full and has graceful lines. The material looks just like a wool, but it's really a cotton, so it can be worn in our present weather and then in the summer, too. The price is a very pleasing one . . . $9.95.

AS WE LIVE

Follows Spouse to Bar
To Insist He Come Home

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

No man likes to be tied to his wife's apron strings. And no man likes to be humiliated in front of other people.

(Q)—"My husband likes to go to taverns on Saturday nights to drink with his friends. Then he comes home early on Sunday morning, drunk and making so much noise that he frightens our children. He spends on drinking money we cannot afford. I have begged him not to go.

"For the past three Saturdays I have gone to the tavern and insisted that he come home. We usually have an argument there, but I refuse to leave until he comes home. Last Saturday he was so angry that he told me he would leave me if I ever did this again. I know he means what he says, but how can I make him see that it is not fair to me or the children for him to go on like this?"

(A)—Your husband is not being fair to you and your children. Not only is he spending money for drink that should be spent for his family, but he is setting a bad example for the children and is embarrassing you.

However, I very much doubt that you will make any headway in reforming him with the tactics you have been using. Naturally it humiliates him to be followed and dragged home like a naughty child.

By now you have doubtless made him so antagonistic that he would be unwilling to listen to anything you said. In fact, he may even go out next Saturday night to prove to you that he will not be bossed.

Why not ask your minister to talk to him? Or if he won't listen to the minister, what about a member of his family? He is especially fond of, or a good friend? An outsider can usually make more headway in such cases than a wife.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Words of Encouragement
Mean Much to Everybody

This is the last time this year I will mention my eight-week self-improvement marathon which ran the first week in January, except for next August when I always print the stories of a few marathon winners.

I have been following up for one day each week for the past seven weeks with advice and encouragement which humans need when they are determined to do a job, one which in many cases has been delayed for years.

Today I want to ask you who joined marathon to send a letter to me telling me about your success. Of course this is not obligatory, but it is most heart warming to me to hear from you what you have accomplished and how this has affected your life. I do not use names, so don't fret about that. So many wonderful letters come to me each year from you. I am just jogging your memory. If you didn't get your marathon booklet, you may order it now for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope addressed to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

In thinking of how much your letters mean to me I am reminded of a letter which just arrived in my mail. This is from a wonderful woman who is 82 years old.

This letter made me think anew and will also stimulate you to such a thought—that we pass up so many opportunities to add happiness to the lives of others—simply because we are tired or so embroiled in our own problems that we forget that others have theirs.

"Yesterday I went down town to do some shopping. I am not very strong on my feet but as soon as I entered the store I was surrounded by associates I knew when I was working there.

"It is impossible to tell you how much more alive I felt with the gladness of knowing that they remembered me so happily. I had not seen some of them since I gave up my job and was so sorry that I could not remember all of their names.

"To tell you the truth, I was feeling quite old when I went down there—which I really am. I am 82 years old, but with the cordial greetings from so many, I began to feel that I am not old at all. I came home with your letters mean to me I am a joyful heart.

Youth Aliyah Helps Starving Children in Israel

Mrs. Barnett Janner, JP. London, Eng., was in Victoria for a few hours Tuesday to speak to the Victoria branch of Ha-dassah on Youth Aliyah, the organization that looks after immigrant children in Israel.

The speaker told her audience that the population of Israel in 1948 was 650,000 and that now it has increased to 1,500,000.

A steady stream of desperately poor people are flowing into Israel steadily, mostly from the Arab countries.

"They need help," this dynamic woman explained; "Jewish people in other countries must assist. We must at least save the children."

Mrs. Janner is the wife of Britain's member of Parliament for N.W. Leicester who has a private law practice. She belongs to more organizations than there is space to record, but finds time to do all her own housework and cooking for her family, which includes a 26-year-old son and a 22-year-old daughter.

Civic Interest Group Hears Many Reasons for Proper Town Planning

At a recent meeting of the Civic Interest Group of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, Hugh Stephen, member of the Town Planning Commission, was guest speaker.

Mr. Stephen kept the audience fascinated with his description of the origin of town planning. He told of the growth of home-steads from pioneer days, through the era of hamlets, villages and towns and pointed out how much of the cluttered confusion and the slums in modern cities might have been avoided by a little forethought.

"Luckily Victoria has still time to escape the fate which has befallen other capital cities," Mr. Stephen said.

Canada-United States Relations

In "clear, concise words and with the force that comes of a wide understanding of his subject, Herbert Mowat told members of the Women's Canadian Club, Tuesday afternoon in the Empress Hotel, something of Canada's relations with the United States.

A member of the national executive of the United Nations Society, Mr. Mowat believes that "possibly the most important role Canada will play in the next half century may well be the influence it will have on the opportunity to exert, directly and indirectly, on United States policy."

Today, Canada-United States relations are influenced by two factors which were missing 30 years ago, the speaker pointed out—membership in the United Nations and membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"Both countries have resources which qualify them to give bold leadership in and through these organizations," the speaker said. "Jointly they can exert what may possibly be a decisive influence for world development."

Mr. Mowat pleaded for better understanding among Canadians of the strength and the weakness of the United States.

"Don't fall for the propaganda emanating from the Kremlin that Canada has been bought out by the inroads of American capitalism. Don't knock and vilify. That's what Russia wants you to do."

"Better to remember that because United States is a leader in world affairs, Canada's power and influence has increased accordingly."

The United States did not seek leadership of the free world, Mr. Mowat reminded his audience, but had to assume it because no other country had the resources or the power. In its new role, it has acted both with boldness and with generosity, he believes.

WHEN PROFITS ARE MEASURED IN PENNIES

Is Leukosis a Prowler on your Farm?
If Leukosis steadily undermines your egg profits—don't take half-way preventative measures. GO ALL OUT, start at the beginning by buying the most resistant chicks you can get.

HAN NICK CHICK LEAGUERS you buy from our hatchery have this Leukosis resistance bred behind them. That's the reason they live so well, we have good flesh and skin. We don't claim they are 100% but we have good evidence to show that when compared to other strains, HAN NICK CHICK LEAGUERS
Average Unequaled by any other Leukosis or Hy-Bred.

6-Year Calif. av. profit $6.14, eggs 25¢
Test av. profit $4.84, eggs 22¢
Extra HAN profit per chick $1.30, eggs 28¢

HAN Leukosis, also held the highest three-year average profit at both California and New York. We are the only hatchery in Western Canada that can supply you with HAN NICK CHICKS.

Why don't you try them and see for yourself? We have 1417, Douglas, B.C.
much more resistant than are, under the conditions which exist on your farm.

WHY GAMBLE
When you buy broiler chicks by the chick that will make you the most PROFIT. Our Complete Guide to the Random Sample Test in California crossed with first generation Nichols
New Hampshire or Arbor Acres White Rocks.
All our breeding stock is first generation Nichols or Arbor Acres. We are the only hatchery in B.C. that imports all our breeding stock from these famous American breeders.

Ed Sullivan Will Emcee Toronto Ex

NEW YORK (UP)—Television star Ed Sullivan has signed a $25,000 contract to act as master of ceremonies at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this summer.

Under terms of the contract, Sullivan will appear at six evening shows a week during the two-week exhibition, which runs from Aug. 27 to Sept. 11.

The exhibition has no Sunday show, which will permit Sullivan to fly back to New York for his weekly appearance on CBS-TV's "Toast of the Town."

"Forest Prince" Attracting Packed Houses

The house was packed at last night's presentation. The opera tonight gets underway at 8.15.

There are more than 100 student participants, including 10 principals, 22 dancers, a chorus of 42 and a 21-member orchestra. Music was that of Peter Tchaikovsky.

Draft-Dodging Accordionist Dick Contino on Way Back

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A year has passed since handsome young Dick Contino resumed a career that once seemed ruined. Now the accordionist is looking for new fields to conquer.

He seems to have re-established himself in the show world by hard work. During the year, he spent 45 weeks performing throughout the country.

Although he can now earn an average $3,500 weekly in night clubs and $7,500 in Las Vegas, Contino is slowing down on the nitery dates.

"I want to try the movies and TV," he says. "It's not that I'm against night clubs. But I want to find new challenges. I think it's bad to believe that you are limited to one field only."

Contino has changed a great deal since I saw him three years ago. Then he had just served 4½ months at McNeill Island prison, Wash. He had pleaded guilty to failing to report for army induction at Fort Ord, Calif.

Now 25, Contino is an inch taller, better filled out and seems to be better adjusted. He admitted he felt easier with people and credited his army experience for that. He spent two years in the service, much of it entertaining troops in Korea.

He said that he has experienced no incidents of hostility since his return.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE
AA (Oscar Class)
A (Don't Miss)
BB (Worthwhile)
B (For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(A) "DEEP IN MY HEART" (Royal)—With so many big name "guest stars" glittering on the marquee, with so much promise in the subject of the story, this is the type of play that this column has come to distrust, for they more often than not turn out to be unqualified floppers.

Such, however, is not the case with M-G-M's biography of beloved composer Sigmund Romberg, who made the world a much sweeter place to live in because of the many warm, glorious, light-hearted tunes he left behind him, tunes that are a curious blend of the old waltz-time Vienna he knew as a boy and the bustling, growing America he adopted as his own as an immigrant in 1902.

AS ROMBERG, JOSE FERRER, one of this continent's most accomplished actors, reveals new facets that enhance his reputation. With gracious famed Met soprano Helen Traubel, he cuts a surprising "rug" as they do "Leg Of Mutton," a jazz tune that set the country dancing away back when. In another hilarious scene he takes every one of the parts in one of his own musicals in an effort to impress the girl (Doe Avedon) who is to be the future Mrs. Romberg. That is to say, that Ferrer acts, sings, hoots and does everything but operate the CinemaScope color cameras.

THIS IS ONLY FITTING, of course, for Romberg was no slouch himself. Over the years he composed more than 2,000 songs and 79 operettas! Among them were such unforgettable musicals as "Student Prince," "Maytime," "Artists And Models," "My Maryland," "New Moon" and tunes the calibre of "You Will Remember Vienna."

The guest stars were extraordinarily good. The dancing of Cyd Charisse was excellent, but for sheer wallop it would be difficult to forget the dancing of Gene Kelly with his agile brother Fred in a nifty little number called "I Love to Go Swimm'n' With Wimm'n'." or the Charleston number by Ann Miller who reminded one of Eleanor Powell in the 30s. Rosemary Clooney, Jane Powell, Vic Damone, Ann Miller, Cyd Charisse, Howard Keel, Tony Martin.

Powell, Vic Damone, William Olvis, James Mitchell, Howard Keel, Tony Martin made up the other guests.

IT WAS GOOD TO SEE Merle Oberon back after five years away, looking as lovely as we remember her. She played the part of Dorothy Donnelly, collaborator on some of his greatest hits. Walter Pidgeon as J. J. Shubert; Paul Henreid as Flo Ziegfeld; Tamara Toumanova as Gaby Deslys and all the others worked manfully and ably to make "Deep In My Heart" better than the average show of this loose-knit type. And they succeeded.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The wife of Joseph Marcoux today accused the Vancouver police department of beating her husband with a lead-filled blackjack while he was held in jail on a charge of attempted murder.

Mrs. Bernice Marcoux made the charge after visiting her husband Tuesday night.

Marcoux had bruises on his face and a bandaged left hand when he appeared in police court Monday for formal reading of the charge of attempted murder of William Semenic in Stanley Park.

'Wallflower' Princess Flies Happily Home

London Says She's 'Magnificent' Envoy; Britons OK Margaret's Low Necklines

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (BUP)—Three Lancasters of the Royal Canadian Air Force took off from Gander today to escort Princess Margaret's airliner from Nassau to mid-Atlantic as she bade farewell to the isles of the Indies.

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret comes home from her West Indian tour Thursday. This is what London is saying:

1. She carried off her duties as Royal ambassador magnificently. The British liked the way she fought against the formality which sometimes confines the Royal Family and the fact she stopped her car to receive flowers or chat with bystanders when possible.

2. The low-neckline gowns she wore were all right. The princess trotted out some daring—for royalty—necklines, but a London newspaper which asked its readers what they thought about them reported that 75 per cent were in favor of them.

The Sunday pictorial headlines: "HRH Wallflower." It said "on the highest authority" that she had to sit out a dance in Jamaica because she might have had to dance with colored men, if she danced with whites. Repercussions in the dominions were feared, the newspaper said.

Lambie to Quit If Charges Fail

CAMPBELL RIVER—Commissioner John Lambie said today he will resign from the village commission if his charges against Commissioner Sidney Waterfield are not substantiated by investigation.

He has accused Waterfield of "irregularities" in awarding a gravel job. Deputy Minister of Municipalities J. Everett Brown has been called upon to investigate. (See earlier story, page 6).

KING SIHANOUK
...abdicates in Cambodia

Pro-West King Quits Throne

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (UP)—King Norodom Sihanouk, 33, abdicated today in a dramatic protest against the leftist political groups which oppose his pro-Western policies and his plans for early Democratic general elections.

The young saxophone-playing monarch announced his abdication to his 3,700,000 subjects in a radio broadcast just 48 hours after he conferred here with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on raising and training a 55,000-man Cambodian army.

Norodom resigned in favor of his father, Prince Surin, 60, who has never been king.

His sensational action was similar to a gesture he made two years ago when he went into exile to win support against the French.

STARTED IN 1890

It all started with a provincial act of 1890 which set up a body politic and corporate named "The University of British Columbia," but after election of the first senators, the required initial meeting failed to make a quorum. In fact, only a handful assembled on the date set by the chancellor, Dr. I. W. Powell, of Victoria.

Some of the work normally done in a university was begun four years later by several high schools, among which was Vancouver High, an affiliate in 1899 with Montreal's McGill University. This was followed in 1902 by the affiliation of Victoria High School with McGill, and both became colleges offering first and later second year work in arts courses.

With a few hundred students now attending, and scope of subjects offered expanding, an act of 1906, titled the "Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning of British Columbia," was passed, establishing at Vancouver the McGill University College of British Columbia.

Still expanding, by the time it was taken over by the University of British Columbia, it offered three years in arts and science and two years in applied science.

In 1915, as autumn leaves fell, the University of B.C. opened as such in buildings now on the way to the scrap heap, but until recently part of Vancouver General Hospital in the Fairview district. McGill University College of Vancouver and Victoria College, which had been part of it since 1907, ceased to exist.

For the next 10 years those "Fairview Shacks" constituted a university—probably as humble a start as any institute of higher learning, but engendering a rare spirit of camaraderie among the now 400 students, which has passed from year to year and played a unique role in development of the university.

Colonel Harry T. Logan, part-time lecturer in classics and editor of UBC Alumni Chronicle, remembers 1915 well.

That was the year he began lecturing, and but for an interval of 13 years, he has been with UBC ever since. He remembers

'Chill' Reception for Rotarians?

Not really, it's just the weather visiting Rotarians must face here to mark club's Golden Jubilee. Club sergeant-at-arms Bill Lemm, left, wraps coat close as club president Dr. John Cruise jiggles snow off Rotary sign on Gorge Road.

Rotarians Arrive To Celebrate Jubilee

Approximately 450 Rotarians and wives from Up-Island points, Vancouver and Port Angeles were scheduled to arrive by special train at 3:45 p.m., and were to be met at the depot by buses to take them to the hotel. The island's nine Rotary clubs are represented. Among 'club presidents expected to be on hand are Lex Morgan, top Rotarian of the Port Angeles club, and his wife. The Victoria club here has 170 members, of which Jim Beatty, who joined Rotary in 1912, is the oldest active member. Dr. Cruise has been a Rotarian seven years, five here and two in Kelowna. Dinner tables will feature special "birthday" cakes marking the half-century of "Service Above Self," Rotary motto. Rotary has 8,400 clubs in the 23 countries. Founder was the late Paul P. Harris, Chicago. Rotarians are encouraged to build friendships through diversity of interests, not necessarily similarity. That such friendships can be built is proven by the ever-growing lists of towns and cities where the Rotary symbol, a cogged wheel, has become a part of community life. ## 6 1/2-Mill Tax Boost?

VANCOUVER (UP)—Ald. George Miller forecast Tuesday night that civic expenditures would result in a 6 1/2 mill tax increase for Vancouver ratepayers.

Fifth Straight Win; Russians Keep Pace

COLOGNE, Germany (CP)—Jimmy Fairburn scored three goals and the Warwick brothers added five more as Canada's Pentiction V's, playing at half-speed, trounced Switzerland 11-1 tonight in the world hockey tournament.

It was their fifth straight victory without defeat. Canada remained tied for first place with Russia, who also scored their fifth straight win tonight.

In an extremely clean game in which no penalties were called, the Canadians never needed to step up their speed to outfox the tired Swiss.

More than 3,500 fans in Cologne's big outdoor Eisstadion, including the Shah of Iran and Queen Soraya, who are here on a state visit, watched the Canadians score four goals in the first period, three more in the second and four in the third.

FAIRBURN SHINES
Fairburn, who like the Warwicks is from Regina, scored the second Canadian goal in the first period and then capped his performance with two goals within 32 seconds late in the second period.

Bill Warwick, who leads the tournament in scoring, had another banner day with two goals and two assists. Grant Warwick scored once and chalked up two assists while Dick Warwick, the youngest of the brother combination, notched two goals.

For Bill it was goals No. 10 and 11. Bill Warwick opened the scoring early in the first period and Fairburn, Dick Warwick and Grant Warwick gave the Canadians a 4-1 lead.

SHUTOUT SPELL ENDS
Hans Schelpler scored for Switzerland in the 11th minute, ending goalie Ivan McLelland's long period of shutout hockey. McLelland, who had last allowed a goal against Czechoslovakia late in the third period, had a shutout sequence of 143 minutes and 53 seconds before Schelpler beat him with a clean shot at 10:05.

Bill Warwick scored his second goal in the sixth minute of the second period and Fairburn followed with his pair at 16:02 and 16:34. Defenseman Jack McAvoy, Jack McIntyre, Doug Kilburn and Dick Warwick wound up the scoring in the third period.

from atomic research to baby bathing. It all started with a provincial act of 1890 which set up a body politic and corporate named "The University of British Columbia," but after election of the first senators, the required initial meeting failed to make a quorum. In fact, only a handful assembled on the date set by the chancellor, Dr. I. W. Powell, of Victoria.

Some of the work normally done in a university was begun four years later by several high (Continued on Page 24)

50,000 to View UBC Operations During Annual 'University Week'

(This is University Week in British Columbia. It will end on Saturday with an "open house" at the big, sprawling campus on Point Grey outside Vancouver. Because of the importance in our provincial life of the university, with which Victoria College is allied, the Times sent reporter AB Kent to Vancouver to do a series telling what it means to us. Kent is a student at UBC grad. His first article today tells of the astounding growth of the university.)

Today, with an enrolment of 5,800 students from every corner of the earth and virtually bursting its seams as it tries to cope with the greatest educational responsibility in the province on $5,000,000 a year, UBC is the second largest English-speaking university in Canada.

As such, it rates some attention from the people who support it, and this week upwards of 50,000 citizens will converge on Point Grey for "University Week," culminating Saturday in UBC's triennial "Open House," where they may see everything
